

House Approves 18-Year-Old Vote

Fate Now Depends On Nixon

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A bold bit of strategy by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has helped Congress pass a generation gap-bridging bill that lowers the voting age to 18.

By a 272-132 vote the House Wednesday accepted the 18-year-old vote provision as part of a Senate-passed bill that also continues the 1965 Voting Rights Act for five more years.

House approval sent the package to President Nixon, putting him under the same pressure that Mansfield's strategy applied to the House—accept the bill on both counts or risk further alienation of the nation's youth and its blacks.

Nixon has said he supports the 18-year-old vote, but only through a constitutional amendment, not by a simple act of Congress. He also has opposed extending the 1965 Voting Rights Act, which applies mainly to seven Southern states, on grounds it is regional legislation.

Brief Debate

At the end of Wednesday's brief but emotional debate, House GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford spoke of Nixon's past opposition and raised the possibility the President might let the bill become law without signing it. There had been earlier speculation of a veto.

Civil rights groups were alarmed when the Senate, at Mansfield's insistence, tied the 18-year-old voting proposal to the bill extending the Voting Rights Act.

One of the most successful civil rights law ever enacted, the 1965 act has resulted in adding a million Negroes to the voting rolls in seven Southern states. Its supporters feared it would be dragged under by the weight of so controversial a proposal as teen-age voting.

Celler Unhappy

Particularly unhappy was Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, an ardent supporter of the Voting Rights Act but equally strong in his opposition to lowering the voting age. It was mainly to overcome Celler's opposition that Mansfield devised his strategy.

It worked to perfection Wednesday when Celler led the fight to accept the Senate bill, although still no fan of youthful voting.

Celler said there would be no way to save the Voting Rights Act from expiring in August if the House passed only the Voting Rights extension and followed the normal procedure of a House-Senate conference to range over the lower voting age.

Southern foes would force a delay until the August deadline had passed, he said.

Judicial Test

As for the 18-year-old vote, Celler said it carries a provision calling for a prompt judicial test and a review by the Supreme Court that should settle any constitutional question before January 1. In Celler's opinion the Supreme Court will find it unconstitutional.

The key vote Wednesday came on an attempt by Rep. H. Allen Smith, R-Calif., to send the bill to conference. The House rejected the motion 24 to 183 and passage of the bill by the much wider margin followed.

The outcome was a triumph for an unlikely coalition of youthful, idealistic volunteers and gray, practical politicians who helped build the winning margin through weeks of hard lobby.

Mc Cormack Push
One of the coalition's moving spirits was 78-year-old House Speaker John W. McCormack, who made passage of the bill his key remaining goal before retiring at the end of this term.

Under the provision affecting the 18-year-olds they would be permitted to vote in all federal, state and local elections.

Among those voting for the proposal was Rep. David Obey, D-Wausau, Republicans John Byrnes, Green Bay, and William Steiger, Oshkosh, voted with the minority.

Wind Damage Heaviest in Seymour Area

Gusts Recorded at 59 m.p.h. as Storm
Strikes Valley

High winds Wednesday night blew off the roof of a building next to the power company's district garage in Seymour, causing a delay in restoring power. The roof landed on the ground directly in front of the garage and crewmen had to chop through it with their axes before they could go out and repair downed power lines in the area.

Seymour and the northern part of Outagamie County were hardest hit by the storm, although residents in Appleton, Neenah and other cities were without power for short times as winds gusted up to 59 m.p.h. about 9 p.m.

In downtown Seymour, windows were smashed in many businesses along Main Street. Wires, poles and trees were down and the doors were ripped off the Seymour Lumber Co. About 200 persons were without power from one-half to several hours.

On the south side of Appleton, 500 electric users were without service for about three hours. In Neenah, 100 persons in the island area were blacked out for several hours.

A main fuse blew in Combined Locks and the village was without electricity for about an hour. Firemen were called to stand by for downed wires at 416 W. Sixth St. and at the corner of Joyce and Harrison streets in Kaukauna. Small branches were downed, but no serious damage was reported in the city.

About 200 persons were out of power for varying lengths of time in Weyauwega. Crews worked all night in the storm areas, and almost all service was restored between midnight and 1 a.m.

Lightning struck a power pole and started a fire on North Lake Street at Fritz Park in the Town of Menasha. Hot wires across the street required a road block at about 9 p.m.

The Appleton Fire Department reported no storm-related fires, but stood by at two city locations where power lines were down.

One unit was sent shortly

Joining Army

Widow Replaces Heroic Husband

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (AP) — Shirley Jean Bellrichard, 25, widow of a Medal of Honor winner killed in Vietnam, joins the Army today to carry on for her husband.

"I want to see some of the things he saw," Mrs. Bellrichard said a year after visiting the White House to receive from President Nixon the award for Pfc. Leslie Bellrichard.

The 25-year-old soldier from Janesville, Wis., was a fire-team leader in central Vietnam on May 20, 1967, when an enemy shell burst threw him off balance an instant after he pulled a grenade pin.

The grenade fell into a foxhole he was sharing with four other soldiers. He deliberately fell on the grenade, using his body to shield his comrades as it exploded.

He survived a few minutes, firing his rifle at the charging enemy until he died.

After swearing in ceremonies at Oakland Army Induction Center, Mrs. Bellrichard will go to Ft. McClellan, Ala., for eight weeks of basic training. She said she wants to become an Army nurse. She already has studied nursing for 10 months at nearby Foothill College.

Mrs. Bellrichard, who was married five years before her husband was sent overseas, said:

"I hope they send me to Vietnam. I want to see some of the things he saw."

Where she will be assigned after training will be determined by the Army.

"She wants to carry on for Leslie," said her mother, Edna France. "We're all very proud of her."

Mrs. Bellrichard's sister, Janet Jones, said, "It's something she has wanted to do. I approve. I think our country needs something like this."

By enlisting, Mrs. Bellrichard forfeits $350 to $400 a month in Army and other survivor benefits in exchange for a private's pay of $124.60 a month, the Army said.

Six More Wounded In Miami Violence

MIAMI (AP) — Six persons suffered gunshot wounds during the night as Miami moved into a fourth day of racial violence.

Police said the victims, including a 60-year-old woman, were struck by bullets as snipers hidden in darkened buildings traded shots with officers.

Gunfire crackled in most Negro sections of the city with heavy exchanges in the Brownsville district where the violence first erupted Monday in a dispute between a white grocer and his black customers.

Despite a curfew covering nearly half of the city, scattered groups of young Negroes ranged through the streets throwing bottles and stones and looting.

More than a dozen firebombings were reported. Two schools were slightly damaged.

Two of Wednesday night's gunshot victims were struck as they stood on a balcony watching firemen fight a blaze at a firebombed store.

None of the six wounded in the latest outburst was reported in serious condition. Two of five wounded Tuesday night were critically injured.

Police said more than 50 persons were arrested, mostly for curfew violations. One teen-ager was charged with attempted arson.

Many residents in the trouble

10,000 GIs Still Fighting in Cambodia

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although President Nixon has said "the great majority" of U.S. forces would be out of Cambodia by now, authoritative sources say half the number of American troops sent into that nation are still there.

The President also has promised to have all American troops out by June 30. He repeated the pledge Wednesday in his televised report to the nation on economic conditions.

As of Wednesday, however, the sources said about 10,000 American troops remain in Cambodia "still searching, still sweeping and still removing enemy supplies" from the jungle sanctuaries along the South Vietnamese border.

In his May 8 news conference, Nixon said: "The great majority of all American units will be out by the second week of June."

20,000 Men

The Defense Department has said the U.S. troop level in Cambodia reached 20,000 men soon after the incursion started April 29.

The White House denied this week the President's words about the mid-June target constituted a pledge. A spokesman contended the President had merely voiced an expectation based on field reports from Saigon. Since the Cambodian operation began with the announced purpose of cleaning out enemy sanctuaries, the White House and Pentagon have used different figures on the number of troops involved.

In his June 3 report to the nation on the progress of the Cambodian operation, Nixon said 31,000 American troops took part and 17,000 had been pulled back across the border into South Vietnam. The Pentagon at the time was using a figure of 20,000.

Different Figures

Pentagon spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim sought to clear up this apparent discrepancy by explaining the following day that the 31,000 figure used by the President represented the total number of U.S. troops who had been in Cambodia since the start of the Cambodian incursion.

"This 31,000 figure," Friedheim said, "was Gen. Abrams' figure on how many U.S. personnel had at any time participated in the Cambodian operation." Gen. Creighton Abrams is the U.S. commander in South Vietnam.

"At no single time had more than 20,000 troops been involved across the border," Friedheim explained.

Phnom Penh Threatened as Reds Cut Two Major Highways

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Enemy troops severed two more major highways out of the capital. This is the only land route to the provincial and regional military headquarters between the threatened capital and Saigon and isolating a large Cambodian force at the base.

Highway 1, leading to Saigon, was cut by Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops about 25 miles south of Phnom Penh. Highway 2, leading to the Cambodian garrison in Siem Reap, was cut by Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops about 25 miles south of Phnom Penh.

Potentially more serious was the cutoff on a second highway entrenched in the historic ruins of Angkor seven miles to the east. Associated Press photographer Ghislain Bellorger passed through Siem Reap Wednesday said the Viet Cong had stockpiled ammunition and supplies in the temples of Angkor Wat. In Phnom Penh, the population waited tensely to see if a threatened attack by the enemy would materialize.

A Buddhist monk who said he escaped from North Vietnamese troops at Kompong Speu told a news conference the Communists boasted they would attack Phnom Penh today, three days to the day after Premier Lon Nol and his associates deposed Prince Norodom Sihanouk as chief of state.

Propaganda Victory
Several diplomats said the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong already had scored a propaganda victory by frightening the city's population. Meanwhile, Phnom Penh was quiet.

A military spokesman reported fighting in Kompong Thom, a provincial capital 60 miles north of Phnom Penh, and said South Vietnamese helicopters were flying in support of the ground troops.

He also reported scattered fighting around Kompong buildings.

The spokesman also described the situation around Angkor Wat, the famed temple ruin in the northwest Cambodia, as critical. He said the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong had occupied nearly all the vast 12th century ruins, Cambodia's greatest national treasure, and had established several hospitals and storage areas there.

"More seriously," he added, "they are putting in anti-aircraft gun emplacements around the temples."

Cambodian fighter-bombers are attacking enemy positions in the vicinity of the temples but are staying clear of the ruins themselves, the spokesman said. The Cambodian government has declared Angkor an "open city," saying its troops would make no move against enemy forces occupying them in order to avoid damage to the

Inflation Worsens

Living Costs Up In All Categories

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs rose four-tenths of one per cent last month, continuing the nation's worst inflationary rate in 20 years of more than 6 per cent annually, the government reported today.

Costs of all major categories were up, with transportation and clothing posting the largest price hikes in May, said the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The May increase was lower than the rise of six-tenths of one per cent in April, but the Bureau of Labor Statistics figured the rises in both months the same on a seasonally-adjusted basis—five-tenths of one per cent.

Price Index

The May increase boosted the government's consumer price index to 134.6, meaning it cost $13.46 for every $10 worth of typical family purchases in the 1957-59 period on which the index is based.

The bureau said food prices rose three-tenths of one per cent, housing and medical care five-tenths of one per cent each, clothing six-tenths of one per cent and transportation eight-tenths of one per cent.

The report said the May rise was less than April because of smaller price hikes for most services and for commodities other than food.

Prices of food and consumer durable goods accelerated from April, it said.

The May report said living costs were 6.2 per cent above a year earlier, continuing the more than 6 per cent annual rate of climb that has prevailed for more than a year.

Smaller Increases
"Charges for consumer services in May showed their smallest monthly rise since late last year. Price increases for nearly all the important groups of services were noticeably smaller than in recent months," the bureau said.

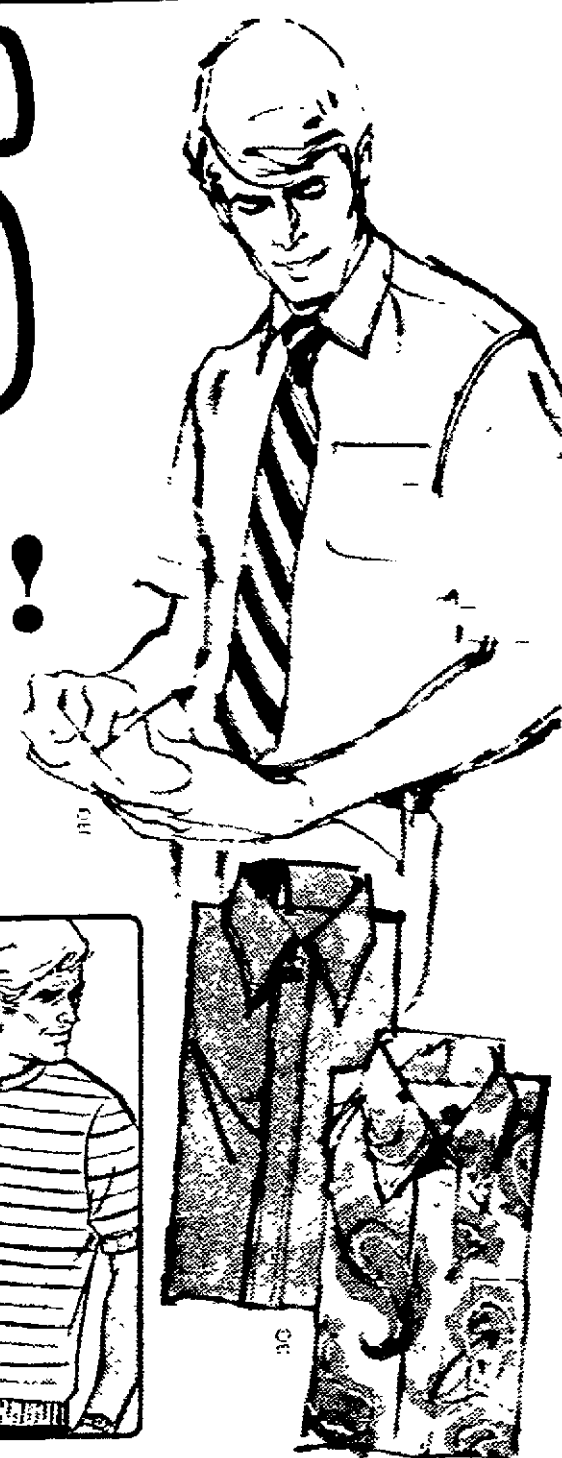

"Used car prices rose sharply in May, 5.3 per cent, and were largely responsible for the one per cent contraseasonal increases for durables. House prices rose more rapidly than in recent months and were almost important in the advance. New car prices declined seasonally," it said.

"Food prices, which usually decline in May, were up," the report said.

"Prices of poultry and eggs fell less than seasonally and

Noise Pollution Blues

BY ERMA BOMBECK

A leading psychologist noted with some concern that this generation will grow up with: —poor vision (resulting from 21-inch eyeballs) —baldness (from teasing hair) —virgin feet and poor circulation (from riding in a car to the garbage can) —impaired hearing (from transistor wires plugged into the ears and increased decibels)

The latter is of some concern to me as I am the indirect victim of noise pollution. I like music as well as the next one (Haven't I played my "Gale Storm Sings Una Merkle Hits" album until it is white?) But from the moment I open my eyes in the morning until they close at night, I am assailed by sound. If it isn't Ben Franklin and his Electric Kite Strings, it's a tape recording of a bullfrog mating, a radio blaring jokes from the Air Scout, or a television presenting Popeye to a roomful of furniture.

"You know," I said to my husband, "I think all this noise is beginning to affect my hearing."

"You never noticed it before," he mumbled.

"I'll get it," I said pushing away from the table.

"Get what?" he asked.

"The door. Didn't you say there was someone at the door?"

"I said you never noticed the noise before." Don't move your head away from me when you talk. And speak slowly. Now, what's this about my being such a bore? "Not bore. BEFORE!" "All right then, before I was a bore." "If you're worried about your hearing, why don't you go in for a checkup?" I watched his lips. "As long as you're writing one, write a big one. I have to pick up your cleaning this afternoon." "Not check," he said slowly. "Check-UP!" "You're drinking out of one. Do you need two?" "Oh good grief," he snarled. "I am going to the office. I am not going to sit here at breakfast and roar." "I'll get it," I said pushing myself away from the table. If this works, all I'll have to worry about is fuzzy vision, tender feet and baldness. Did You Know?

That yogurt is a cultured milk product with a custard-like consistency? Yogurt also is low in calories and comes combined with fruits of various flavors.

That whipped butter primarily is designed for eating and should not be substituted for regular butter in recipes? Whipped butter is just that, whipped up to a lightness and therefore does not have the same consistency as plain butter.

That French toast is delicious when made with stale French bread?

That a gelatin salad unmolds easily if a small spatula or paring knife (using tip only) is run around the inside edge of mold between the gelatin and the mold? After a dip in hot water and a gentle shake, the salad or dessert should turn out with ease.

'Me and My Shadow'

Passersby might have thought they were seeing double Sunday afternoon at Schaefer Park . . . And they were right; because for every tiny tot to teenager, there was a look-alike or an almost look-alike, as is sometimes the case with twins. The occasion was a family picnic held annually by the Fox Valley Mothers of Twins Club. Planned this year by Mrs. Joe Zolkoske, chairman; Mrs. Tom Heidke, and Mrs. Reginald Van De Hey, the event proved to be a photographer's delight with such an enthusiastic turnout. As might be expected, his only problem was the little matter of matching names and faces.

Squinting in the June sunshine, Jason and Jerod Gorges enjoy a view of the picnic from the arms of their mother, Mrs. Larry Gorges.

Twins Not Only Look Alike—sometimes they feel alike, too. At least, that seemed to be the situation above when Sherri and Sherrill Weller were silhouetted in pensive moods. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Weller. (Post-Crescent Photos by Robert V. Baeten)

Among Twins Taking to the swings at the annual Fox Valley Mothers of Twins Club picnic were Penny and Polly Heidke, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Heidke.

Playing on the Bars proves to be twice the fun for twins, Melissa and Melinda Schwabe, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Schwabe. Above, Michelle Leahy pulls up an invisible chair to join her sister, Maria, in a popcorn eating session on the grass. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Leahy.

Brief Renown as Smallest Baby Recalled by State Woman

BY DEBORAH RANKIN

BRISTOL, Wis. (AP)—Three well-worn scrapbooks, a bonnet and a blanket are the only mementos that Jacqueline Benson Feicht has of the brief renown she was accorded as the world's smallest baby 34 years ago.

Medical authorities gave the 12-ounce infant little chance for survival. But after 4½ months in an incubator and forced feeding through a tube to her stomach, Jackie was released from a Chicago hospital. She reached her normal weight and size by the time she was 2 and doctors hailed her survival as a medical miracle. Interest in Jackie's case was renewed last month when St. Paul's Glenn Sasser, 36, wife of Navy Lt. Sasser, 36, gave birth to a 12-ounce baby. The baby, said Sasser, was three to five months premature. She died May 28.

Like her former life in the incubator, Jackie has rubbed off on Mrs. Feicht, a kindergarten teacher and wife of a Milwaukee social worker.

She and her husband, Emil D. Feicht Jr., are on dress but are preparing to have another child. Jackie's family is three children and a sister. Mrs. Feicht lives with her mother-in-law in this small town. The family is in the Illinois state and operate a dog breeding business in their spare time.

Intense Embarrassment
Mrs. Feicht recalls—with annoyance—the public aspect of her singular medical history. She says one photograph of her as an unclothed infant that accompanied annual stories on her birthdays throughout the years caused her intense embarrassment as a teen-ager and a rough time as a teacher.

"You try and convince a bunch of 5 year olds that you're Miss Benson and that picture is of you and not your baby," she said.

The phone calls and letters from her public still occur. "I swear, they must all come from old women who had children at the same time Jackie was born," said her husband. The writers and callers express a few words of encouragement and often refer to similar situations in their own families.

The scrapbooks, the doll-size bonnet and blanket made for the young Jackie by some admirers, are not on display. She is less than lukewarm about her early fame and noted the record for the smallest baby to survive has gone to an English woman who weighed 10 ounces at birth. "But," she added, "she wasn't born in a hospital like me so it's not official."

Her husband said Jackie was reared as a "china doll-type child," an attitude which precluded many normal activities.

His wife concurred, remarking that at one time she wanted to emulate the nurse who almost singlehandedly cared for her after she was born and the doctors all but abandoned hope.

Wanted to be Nurse
Jackie said that as a high school pupil she wanted to enter the profession of her old nurse, Katherine Gallagher, but after three months as a nurses' aide she decided she didn't have the necessary stamina.

"Now that's ridiculous," exploded her husband. "Anybody knows it takes as much energy to watch over a class of kids as it does to be a nurse." His wife laughed appreciatively.

Raised in a protected atmosphere did she develop an insular self-sufficiency as a result?

"I will say this," she replied. "I am a very aloof person. I prefer to be alone."

In that early struggle to survive Jackie may have also developed a strong-willed determination to accomplish a job at hand, despite opposition or advice.

She'll tube feed an ailing puppy if necessary and like her old nurse, who ignored the pronouncements of medical authorities, she'll persist wherever there's a flicker of hope. "I'll try beyond the point of reality," she said, "sometimes to the point of my own destruction."

Dairy Queen Candidates Told

Candidates for the Calumet County Dairy Queen Contest are Margie Winkler and Mary Thiel, Hilbert; Carol and Jo Ann Wagner and Kathy Mueller, Chilton; Barbara Geiger, Brillion, and Joan Steiner, New Holstein.

The young women will be interviewed and the queen chosen from 6:30 to 9 p.m. next Thursday at Hilbert High School. The queen will be crowned at the annual Cheese Derby that evening at Hilbert Park and will be the cheese-makers entry in the Fairest of the Fair competition.

Thirty-Four Years Ago, Jacqueline Benson Feicht was regarded as the smallest baby ever to survive. Born at a weight of 12 ounces, she was given little chance of survival. But survive she did. She's shown at top at age of seven months. Below, Jacqueline poses with her husband, Emil D. Feicht Jr., counselor for a social service agency in Milwaukee. They live at Bristol. (AP Wirephoto)

Gonorrhea Just One Cause of Arthritis

BY ANN LANDERS
DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have just written to the publisher of the paper asking him to fire you. I am sure he will receive many other such letters. I work for the National Arthritis Foundation and I am incensed by your statement that arthritis is caused by gonorrhea. You have insulted every arthritic in the country. I don't see how you have held your job so long making such crazy statements as that. Do you write your column with a bottle of gin by the typewriter? Don't you have an editor who reads your stuff before it gets into the paper? I hope before they fire you that you will at least apologize — Boiling Over Dear Boil: Please read the column again. I said, "The vast majority of people who have arthritis have rheumatoid or osteoarthritis not the gonorrheal type." Then I went on to say, in response to a direct question, "yes, gonorrhea can cause arthritis." That statement is correct. It does not mean, however, that everyone who has arthritis got it from V.D. Here is another example: Excessive drinking can cause cirrhosis of the liver, but not every one with cirrhosis of the liver got it as a result of drinking. There—do you feel better?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a woman in my mid 50's and have reared three children. I worked before the children were born and I made good money. I quit when our last child entered high school.
It's a pleasure not to set an alarm clock. I love staying at home and doing as I please. But my husband will not let me alone. He says I am lazy and stupid for piddling away my time. He has made me feel like a leech because I am not bringing in money. He is forever reading ads to me — "Help wanted, Female" Twice I have received calls from agencies which he undoubtedly "arranged"

My husband is an executive and we are not hard up for money. I have never been a big spender and am more conservative than most women in our crowd. I do my own hair. We have no maid in the house. I don't mind an occasional part-time job, but I don't want steady work. Is this wrong? — Fiscal Fracas Without End
Dear Fis: A woman in her mid-50's who has raised three children should not go back to a full-time job unless (1) additional income is needed or (2) she wants to.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a teen-ager who would like to respond to your suggestion that teens should respect their parents and accept responsibility. I couldn't agree more, but how can teens respect their parents when they don't respect us and they don't give us any responsibility?

How is a kid supposed to know what respect is when his parents yell at him all the time, never give him a chance to explain anything, criticize him from morning till night — never a compliment or a word of encouragement. How are we supposed to know what responsibility is if everything is done for us and we aren't even allowed to make decisions vital to our lives? If a kid's parents won't give him respect and responsibility, who can he turn to? — Illinois Gripe
Dear I. G.: You've raised some excellent points. I hope it jars loose a few parental brains. Thanks for a good letter.

Some bridge hands look so hopeless that the only way to pull them out of the fire is to imagine some adverse holding that will allow you to make your contract and then play for that holding.
Remote as success may seem, you must play in a manner that gives you a chance for it, and then hope or pray. A small chance is better than no chance at all.

The bidding:

Pass Pass
Opening lead: Six of clubs.

The bidding doesn't look very dignified, but North tried, what is called in the vernacular, "to operate." With his heart fit, he feared an adverse spade fit. So what better way to keep to opponents from bidding spades than to bid them himself?

Of course, the tactic is an old one but nonetheless effective when the opponents have spades. A little trouble results when your partner, not the opponents, has the spades! North, Ace Robert Hamman, was not overjoyed to hear Ace Mike Lawrence raise to three spades. He hoped he could bail out in four hearts. Fortunately, Lawrence was on the same wave length and passed. Had he bid four spades, this hand would most likely have never reached print.

As it was, Lawrence played the hand so well, he should be proud to see it in print. After all, he wasn't the one who bid one spade with two small spades! Lawrence won the club opening with the ace and wrestled with the problem of his four obvious losers—one club, one diamond and two spades.

The only hope was to work with the spades in an effort to discard a losing club from the table. However, before he could set up a spade discard, the opponents could set up their club trick unless... Unless East had both the ace and king of spades, plus a doubleton club, and West the ace of diamonds. A lot to hope for, but Lawrence was desperate.

He plunked down the king of diamonds at trick two to knock out West's entry to the club suit. West won the ace and continued with the jack of clubs to Lawrence's ace. Now two rounds of trump were drawn, ending on the table, and a spade played. East could take his two spades but held no club to lead and no entry to the West hand. West was forced to die with his established club trick and Lawrence was able to discard from dummy a club on his established spade.

The key play was the diamond king. It disrupted communications between the East-West hands, just as Lawrence had envisioned when he was praying for a miracle.

The Ailing House Heat Frees Rusty, Old Screws

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN
Q: Is there any way to loosen a tight, rusty old screw? I have tried but I realize that all I'll accomplish is ruining the groove so the screw will have to be drilled out. — Hartford
A: Heat the screw head with the tip of a soldering gun or fine-pointed soldering iron. For some reason, the heat will make the most stubborn screw loosen up.

Q: I would like to build some bird houses for next spring for my parents' house and to sell to others. I am 13. — Waterbury.
A: Write: National Audubon Society, 1130 Fifth Ave., New York City 10028. Directions Simplified. Briarcliff Manor, New York 10515. Good luck! I'm sure the birds will thank you, too.

Q: I am planning to panel the walls of my new basement recreation room. Can the paneling be installed directly on the concrete block walls? If not, what would you suggest? I want to avoid any condensation problems. — Columbus.
A: You're wise to plan this prevention. You don't state the type of paneling, but for utmost protection against condensation, mount the paneling on furring strips to provide a dead air insulating space between masonry and paneling. For extra protection, a vapor barrier of a coat of aluminum paint on the back surface of the paneling won't hurt a bit. And to save on heat while you keep the room warmer, fill the space between paneling and walls with blanket insulation.

Long Pushes Appeal for County Narcotics Squad

Outagamie's Drug Problem Called Severe

BY PETER BACH
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Immediate steps to create a three-man squad "to work on nothing but drugs on a county-wide basis" were urged Wednesday night by Dist. Atty. James R. Long.

"We have an obligation to cut down the supply of illegal drugs," Long told the Outagamie County Board's Courts and Justice Committee.

Long called the problem severe enough right now so that "every school which has students over the fifth grade in the county" is experiencing serious difficulties with drug abuse.

The investigative narcotics team would work out of his office, Long said, and would have to be "well trained, sharp people," requiring a yearly salary of $10,000 to $12,000.

Three drug-related arrests have been made so far this year, Long cited, but existing jurisdictions are "overworked" and impeded due to shift work.

Funding such a program, which would be experimental for three years, he said, probably is the immediate task faced by the county. Federal funds may be available, however, Long said, referring to his recent consultation with an official of the Wisconsin Council on Criminal Justice who said "this is the kind of thing we like to put the money into."

Long said he would like to see the proposal come before the County Board no later than the July meeting, and that by August the question of funding the program could be settled. He plans to confer with a law enforcement member of the Fox Valley Council of Governments, he said.

"I would hope the board members themselves would go and make a survey of the problem," Long said, noting that in his experience drug users are willing to speak of their contacts.

Screening applicants for the narcotics squad could be done through a board composed of three or four persons, he said, after each applicant's resume has been reviewed. The team's members could work out of their own homes if necessary, to insure the secrecy of their work. Cars probably should be provided, but a personal secretary may have to come later. The men would not have to type their own reports.

"Now, a case gets blown when too many people work on it," he said.

In other action Wednesday night, reports from Corp. Counsel Frank Templeton and Clerk of Courts Gloria Johnson were filed with the committee.

Templeton, who has been surveying several counties to determine their answers to a sticky legal question of public defender, cited as perhaps most successful Dane County's program which goes beyond what one would normally expect from a single attorney for a county's indigent defendants. Templeton said the county's indigent defendants last month was canceled after county officials found that sewage facilities at the site were inadequate.

The man on whose land the festival was to have been held said, however, that the event was canceled because things "got out of hand." Outagamie County Sheriff Calvin Spice and members of the Town of Liberty Board had registered strong objections to the festival plans.

Bar Association to discuss legalities of computing arrearages is should be replaced with a more efficient version costing $14,000.

The committee, which at its ing 18, remarrying and illness meeting a week ago set next Wednesday as the night it would hear from the county's four judges, reset the meeting for received from men who pay amount of data processing re-late summer or early fall. their estranged wives in the quired to maintain accurate County Judge Nick F. ## Aldermen Wonder

Environmental what?

'Sanitarian' is out. 'Environmentalism' is in. The Appleton City Council has decreed it.

Trouble is, nobody on the council Wednesday night seemed to be sure what was being decreed.

The Board of Health recommended to aldermen that the titles of the city's three sanitarians be changed to environmentalist.

Ald. Walter Kalata (2nd) asked the question "What's an environmentalist?"

Ald. Robert Roemer (5th), in charge of the meetings as council president, replied, "I can't even say it."

Somebody made a motion to approve the change and somebody else seconded it.

Ald. Orville Strutz (17th) was on his feet. "I'd like to know what the word means. I can't pronounce it, myself."

"Look it up!"

Kalata: I'd like to know how to address the man in the future.

Roemer "I'd suggest you all go home and get out the dictionary and look it up, and you'll all be a lot smarter."

Voice: "It's not even in the dictionary."

Ad Bruce Stutzman (1st), a school teacher who serves on the Board of Health, arose to instruct his fellow aldermen "It's part of a thing that is spreading across the nation," he began, adding that the local sanitarians also are going to ask for a pay increase at the end of the year.

Roemer thanked him, adding, "But you still haven't told us what it means."

Strutz gave up. "I'll get out my dictionary when I get home," he told Roemer, and the discussion ended.

The council adopted the new title, whatever it means, unanimously.

Council Doesn't Quite Bury Safety Building

BY CLIFF MILLER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The Appleton-Outagamie County courts and safety building proposal was spared its expected coup de grace Wednesday night.

Rather than being taken up immediately by the City Council, Mayor George Buckley's resolution to pull the city out of further talks with county officials was referred to a committee.

Ald. Robert Roemer (8th), who is on the joint committee of city and county officials, had the measure referred to the council's Public Safety Committee, of which he is chairman.

As council president, Roemer was sitting in for Buckley in charge of proceedings as the measure came up. He instructed Clerk Elden Broehm to refer the resolution to his committee.

In anticipation of a vote on the proposal, representatives of the Appleton Area Chamber of Commerce and Appleton Building and Construction Trades Council were in the audience, and had submitted to aldermen a joint statement urging keeping the venture alive.

Referred to Committee

Their letter and a pair of resolutions recently adopted by the city-county committee also were referred to Roemer's committee. Roemer has been openly opposed to continuing the effort, saying the city can't convert the old Appleton Vocational School to a police station.

The program includes a "briefing bank," comprising recent Supreme Court rulings and other materials designed to aid private attorneys who perhaps housed in the safety building, once in six months have to tackle a tough criminal case.

The committee will attempt to contact officials from the State Wednesday, saying it would be less expensive for both the city and county to go their separate ways, and endorsing Roemer's vocational school proposal. The trades council and chamber said in their statement that they have joined in an effort to demonstrate concern for construction of a joint facility.

"The members of our organizations are the voters and the taxpayers of Outagamie County. It is our firm conviction that elected representatives of the voters should proceed in the interests of the constituents, and that these interests are providing the best and most efficient law enforcement," the statement says.

Commission Rejects Plan For Goodland

Amidst painful recollections of past hassles over using Goodland Field for something other than baseball, the Park and Recreation Commission has rejected a proposal to place a new City Hall and a city-county courts and safety building there.

The commission Tuesday became the first of several public bodies to take action on the proposal by Ald. Thomas Mulvihill (14th) to put the public buildings on the field and for the county to put up a stadium and civic center on the County Farm site.

The Plans Commission and the City Council's Public Safety Committee put off action on the proposal earlier, waiting for another body to act first.

Compromise Attempt

Mulvihill submitted his proposal in an apparent attempt to offer a compromise to unsnarl the city-county safety building tangle.

Commission Chairman Ralph Gerisch recalled that past proposals to dispose of the ballpark have aroused strident opposition.

Commissioner Arthur Jones said it would take years to Turn to Page 4, Col 1

It also refers to a recent chamber statement saying public faith in government and ability to attract new business and industry depend on carrying out adopted plans, which are reviewed as a method of attracting new establishments.

"Appleton's comprehensive plan and the work of the Council of Governments were reviewed with representatives of Wisconsin Wire, Appleton Mills, Gimbel's and Dutch Inns," according to the statement.

Each has either expanded existing operations, moved new operations here or has considered moving to the area.

The statement omits mention that the city's comprehensive plan calls for location of police and court facilities in the area of the present Courthouse, where the joint committee has recommended putting facilities.

"We would urge you to continue to work together to develop the joint complex," the statement concludes. It is addressed to the mayor, council and County Board chairman.

Other Business

In other business, the council: — Approved reappointment to the Library Board of Elmer Otte, chairman, and Mrs. Stansbury Young for three-year terms.

— Learned that a request by a group of young people chiefly from the UWGB Fox Valley Campus for a July 4 parade permit has been withdrawn. They had announced plans for a parade and youth festival.

— Approved paving Alton Street from Lawe to Rankin streets and levied assessments after ordering the street kept at its present 28-foot width rather than being widened to 33 feet as had been proposed by the Public Works Department. Residents objected to loss of trees and increased traffic as a result of widening.

— Accepted a petition from William Vander Maazen to annex 3.66 acres from the Town of Grand Chute along Prospect Ave.

— Adopted a preliminary resolution to levy special assessment at the end of the council will be allowed to move their session asking the Welfare and house from 1002 W. Northland Ordinance Committee to study Ave to 1100 W. Lindbergh St., the feasibility of an ordinance but Ald. Richard Schouten (19th) requiring residents surrounding wants neighbors notified before the proposed site where a any more houses are moved in dwelling is to be relocated to be the city notified before the building is Without discussion, the City moved.

Council Wednesday night granted a moving permit for the who objected to the moving of Doerfler home for the second time dwelling complained that they were not consulted before permits were granted.

The original sites of the two homes on Northland are part of a ShopKo discount center construction project. The other home already has been moved since the owner's permit was claimed before the council relocated, submitted a resolu-

Portage, Waupaca Counties

Officials Brace for Rock Festival

BY BILL KNUTSON
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

STEVENS POINT — Law enforcement officials in Portage and Waupaca counties are stepping up plans to control a rock festival scheduled for the weekend of June 26-29.

"We've resigned ourselves to the fact there is going to be a rock festival," Portage County Sheriff Nick Check said today. Although "a number of meetings have been held in the past weeks," attempts to halt the event have been unsuccessful, Check said.

Larry Schumann, festival producer, announced at a Madison news conference Wednesday that the event would be held on a 200-acre farm lying in the towns of Iola in Waupaca County and Newhope in Portage County.

Check said the farm site is near Portage County Trunk MM, about seven miles northwest of Iola.

It was learned today that the farm, once owned by Roy Rustad, was sold for $20,000 this week to James R. Sifton of Madison. The land then was leased to sponsors of the festival. Check said the farm has a barn but no living quarters.

Plans for the festival "originated right here in Stevens Point," Check explained.

He said that he and Waupaca County Sheriff Loran Frazier visited the festival site Wednesday. "Where the thing is held is immaterial as long as it is some reasonable area as far as traffic is concerned," Check said.

Asked if the farm site were a "reasonable area," Check replied that it was "as good as could be expected."

There will always be complaints from neighbors," he added. Check said that although he was aware several months ago that a rock festival might be held in the area, he was not told of the site choice until Wednesday.

Frazier reportedly was working on an investigation and was not available for comment this morning.

Schumann said that entrance to the festival will be through the 50 acres of farm land lying in the Town of Newhope, while entertainment will be on the 150 acres on the Waupaca County side.

The reason for the separation, Schumann said, is that the Portage County land is zoned for agriculture, while the Waupaca County portion is not zoned. Schumann would not reveal the name of the farm owner.

He said that the festival sponsor's attorney would meet with Check and Frazier today, but Check said he had received no request for such a meeting.

"We intend to control" the event, Check said. "We made this plan long ago." Although stating that law enforcement help would be summoned from outside the two counties, Check declined to say what form the assistance would take or how much help would be asked.

Check also declined to speculate on how many people the festival would attract, although Schumann said the tickets sales were going very well and "at least 20,000" participants were expected. He said that most of those who bought tickets so far are from Milwaukee.

Such performers as Buffy St. Marie, Johnny Winter, Buddy Rich, Ravi Shankar and Paul Butterfield, along with several local groups, are scheduled to appear during the three days.

Entertainment will not be continuous and the festival will have a carnival atmosphere, with Indian dances and rides, Schumann said.

A rock festival held in April on the Irene York farm drew an estimated 20,000 people on the final day. Mrs. York, an elderly widow, was charged with several zoning violations.

A festival which had been planned for the Shiocton area in Outagamie County last month was canceled after county officials found that sewage facilities at the site were inadequate.

The man on whose land the festival was to have been held said, however, that the event was canceled because things "got out of hand." Outagamie County Sheriff Calvin Spice and members of the Town of Liberty Board had registered strong objections to the festival plans.

Shop Tools Taken From High School

KIMBERLY — Several hundred dollars worth of tools were stolen from the Kimberly Public High School either Tuesday night or early Wednesday morning, school officials reported to police.

The tools include wrenches, hammers, screwdrivers and other equipment from the metal shop. Officials say some items also may have been taken from the woodworking shop, where an inventory will be made by the teacher.

County Health Review

Panel Might Reconvene

Members of the blue ribbon recommendation of establishing a study committee which, after a regional tuberculosis center, comprehensive study, recommended and consider the future potential use of the Riverview Sanatorium building.

In its original study, which was completed more than two years ago, the blue ribbon committee considered only mental health functions, geriatrics and tuberculosis.

County Administrator Alvin Woehler told the committee the county should be concerned with the degree services could be improved if consolidation of institutions took place.

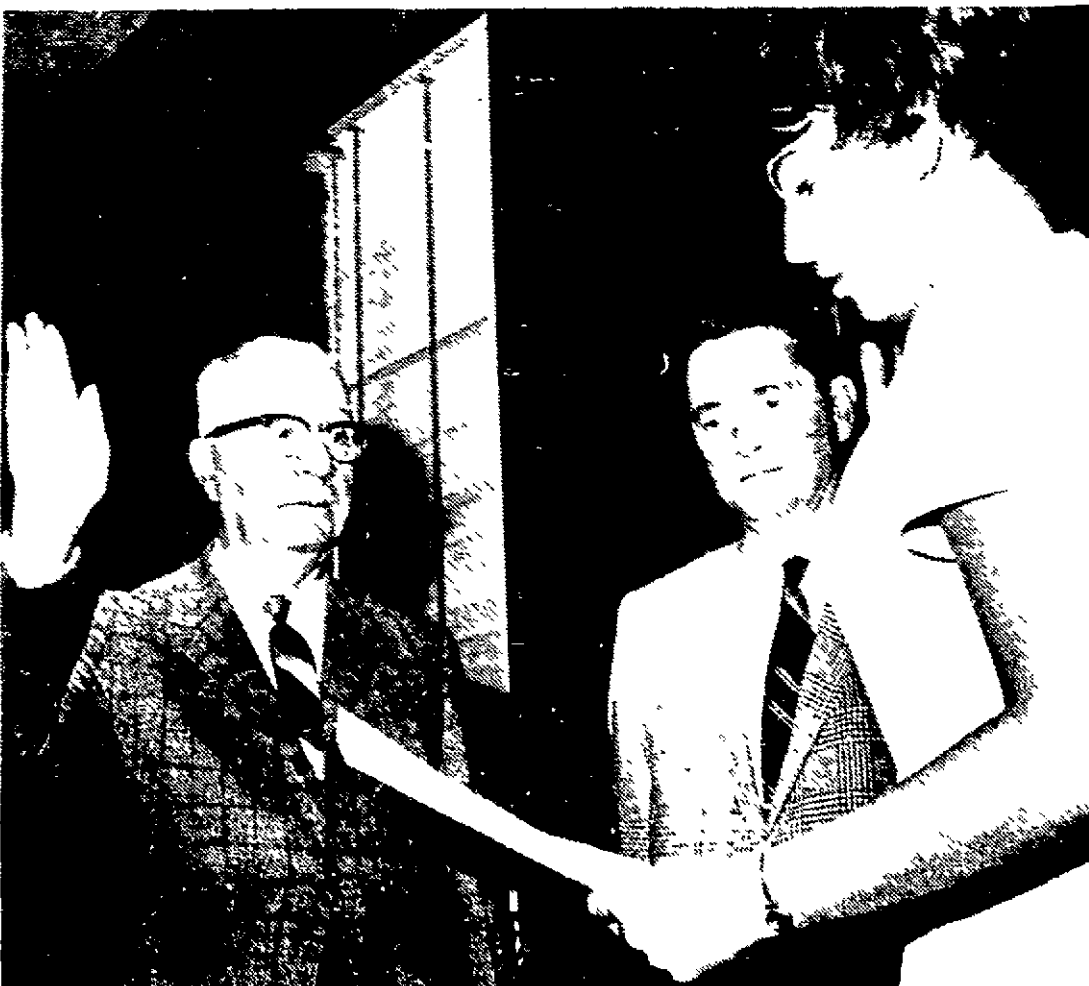

Supv. Kenneth Gibson, Appleton, a member of the Health Committee, said a decision should be made whether consolidation should be physical or in services but Woehler urged that both be done.

County Board Chairman Russell DeLaHunt, Kaukauna, former chairman of the health committee, said members of the blue ribbon committee must be told that any review efforts won't be wasted. He referred to the 2½ years the original study languished before being looked at.

County officials are looking at Riverview Sanatorium with the thought of using it to house the county social services department if the tuberculosis and geriatric hospital functions would be moved into new quarters at the county hospital site.

The county is now seeking, through the Wisconsin County Boards Association, state legislation to permit a single board of trustees to govern all of the institutions. State law now requires separate boards for the tuberculosis sanatorium and mental hospital.

Former Outagamie County Judge Gustave Keller takes the oath of office this morning from Clerk of Courts Gloria Johnson. Keller, who retired from the bench two years ago, will return on a full-time basis when Judge Nick Schaefer, center, attends a conference in Nevada. Keller also might work part time afterward. # House Can be Moved, City Council Decides

Mr. and Mrs. Steven Doerfler at the end of the council will be allowed to move their session asking the Welfare and house from 1002 W. Northland Ordinance Committee to study Ave to 1100 W. Lindbergh St., the feasibility of an ordinance but Ald. Richard Schouten (19th) requiring residents surrounding wants neighbors notified before the proposed site where a any more houses are moved in dwelling is to be relocated to be the city notified before the building is Without discussion, the City moved.

Labor Critical of Nixon Plan For Economy, Business Mixed

NEW YORK (AP) — Top labor leaders criticized President Nixon's economic proposals while the business community reacted with mixed views.

Labor spokesmen said Wednesday the President's plan for calling public attention to significant wage or price increases would hurt labor without reducing inflation.

Some business executives and economists expressed disappointment that the President did not go far enough in the area of wage and price controls.

Others lauded the President's stand, saying they found his speech reassuring.

"President Nixon's latest program against inflation is, like his previous policies and tactics in the economic area, weighted against the American worker," said Paul Jennings, president of the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers.

"It includes nothing ... to bring down interest rates, nothing to correct the imbalance between high prices and inadequate wages, and nothing to put a brake on excess profits," he said.

after 9 p.m. to the 800 block of S. Telulah Avenue where wires fell in front of four homes. The department also waited for power company officials on River Drive to check downed lines.

Numerous reports of downed tree limbs and wires flowed into the Appleton police station between 9 and 9:30 p.m.

The top of a parked auto was dented in the 300 block of N. Oneida Street during this time when a large tree branch blew onto it. The 1970 car is owned by Burtus W. Greges, route 2, Neenah.

Wires were also reported down in the 200 block of N. Bennett Street, the 600 block of W. Verbrick Street, the 100 block of River Drive and the 100 block of E. Glendale Avenue.

A tree was reported to be resting against a house in the 1700 block of N. Superior Street.

In Appleton, rainfall was unofficially recorded at .55 inch during the storm.

Relatively pleasant weather prevailed over Wisconsin early today after heavy thunderstorms, high winds, damaging hail and the threat of tornadoes swept through the state Wednesday night.

Almost all of southwestern Wisconsin was under a tornado watch until 1 a.m. A funnel cloud was sighted near Wisconsin Rapids, but apparently never touched down.

The Chippewa Falls and Eau Claire areas had considerable damage as golf ball-sized hail crashed down during winds that gusted up to 72 miles per hour.

Green Bay reported damage from heavy winds.

Trees and power lines were downed in western and central Wisconsin and a line of thunderstorms dumped substantial amounts of rain across the southern two-thirds of the state.

Lone Rock had nearly two-thirds of an inch of rain. Park Falls reported almost half an inch, as did Green Bay and Milwaukee. Other areas reported lesser amounts, though the Weather Bureau noted that some local areas may have received substantially more as storms moved through.

The high temperature in Wisconsin Wednesday was 91 at Milwaukee and Burlington. Overnight lows ranged from 56 at Superior to 69 at Milwaukee.

Other lows included: Eagle River and Land O' Lakes 58, Ashland 60, Green Bay, Eau Claire and Park Falls 61, Wausau 62, Lone Rock 63, Madison 64, and La Crosse 65.

Early today, skies ranged from clear in the south to cloudy in the north, with temperatures ranging from 55 at Superior to 71 at Milwaukee.

The nation's high Wednesday was 109 at Gage, Okla. The low was 36 at Alamosa, Colo., during the night.

'Inflation Alert' Being Minimized

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration leaders seemed bent today on de-emphasizing the "inflation alert" portion of President Nixon's new anti-inflation plan, saying the White House won't turn its publicity spotlight on individual price-boosting companies.

And congressional reaction gave ample evidence that Nixon's Wednesday broadcast on the state of the economy will not quiet the clamor in Congress for a tougher anti-inflation clamp-down.

While Republican senators generally endorsed the Nixon proposals, Democratic congressional leaders labeled them "vague... soothing rhetoric... too little and too late."

Productivity Commission Nixon announced he will name a new 24-member National Commission on Productivity. He has ordered his Council of Economic Advisers to "prepare a periodic inflation alert."

This, he said, would "spotlight the significant areas of wage and price increases."

But when pressed for details, administration officials said there would be no jawboning "in the sense of direct pressure on individual firms or unions." The inflation alerts, it was stated, would not deal with specific commodities.

Officials seemed bent on de-

Brazilian Police Seeking Kidnapers

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Police are rounding up suspects in the kidnaping of West German Ambassador Ehrenfried von Holleben, who says his abductors never removed their masks and kept him in one room during his five days of captivity.

Arrests were reported throughout the city Wednesday, but there was no reliable estimate of the number. Reports told of a student leader arrested in one part of Rio, a former opposition politician in another, and a lifeguard at the Copacabana beach.

The 61-year-old ambassador told a news conference Wednesday night that the kidnapers seized him from his car, chloroformed him into semiconsciousness, and put him into a large box so he could not see where he was being taken. They did not let him out, he said, until he reached the room where he was held hostage.

Guard Killed

Nine young men and a woman with submachine guns intercepted von Holleben's car last Thursday night, killing one of his Brazilian security guards and wounding the other two. They kept him until after 40 political prisoners were flown to Algiers as ransom, then freed him Tuesday night on a Rio street.

The abductors identified themselves in leaflets as members of the Popular Revolutionary Vanguard, an underground leftist group opposed to Brazil's military regime.

Von Holleben said he first thought there had been an accident when the kidnapers stopped his car, but "after I heard the shooting I knew it was a kidnaping."

Sukarno Very Weak; Death Might be Near

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Former President Sukarno was reported near death today. "It is only a matter of time now," said one of the relatives who gathered at the hospital bedside of Indonesia's George Washington.

An attending physician said the chances of Sukarno's surviving were 25-75 against him.

"We are doing our best, but the old man is very weak," the doctor said. Now 69, Sukarno has suffered from kidney stones, high blood pressure and a circulatory ailment for several years.

He was rushed to the army hospital Tuesday night in a coma. He reportedly regained consciousness after reaching the hospital but was unable to speak to his divorced first wife, Fatmawati, and to his children who came to see him.

Earlier this year Sukarno was taken to the hospital, but he responded then to treatment and was returned to the spacious, lonely mansion on the edge of Jakarta where he has been under house arrest since he was deposed in 1966.

Once the playboy of the eastern world, Sukarno reluctantly granted a divorce to one of his five official wives in 1967, to two others last year—among them Fatmawati—and to his fifth, Ratna Sari Dewi, a 29-year-old former Tokyo nightclub hostess, last January.

Count Karl von Sprei, the West German ambassador to Guatemala, was kidnapped in April and was murdered after the Guatemalan government refused to release political prisoners designated by the kidnapers.

Racon Plan Update Killed By Council

5-5 Decision by Neenah Aldermen Denies Fund Request

NEENAH — Downtown commercial redevelopment, after three years on the drawing boards, has apparently been killed by the city council.

What was widely interpreted by both redevelopment friends and foes as a vote of no confidence, the council failed Wednesday on a 5-5 vote to spend an additional $10,000 to update current plans.

New Aldermen
Two new aldermen, Thomas Willardson, Fifth Ward, and Milton Boehm, Ninth Ward, joined previous redevelopment foes Walter "Doc" Loehning, Robert Frank and Donald Steber in defeating the move.

Passage of the fund transfer required a three-fourths majority of eight votes.

The vote on updating plans for the $6.4 million project came quickly and without comment.

But aldermen and other officials this morning indicated that the commercial but not the public works portion of redevelopment was dead, at least for the time being.

"Don't Want It"
"They've made up their minds they don't want redevelopment," Mayor Roman V. Hauser, a redevelopment backer, said.

Abbott Byfield, chairman of the redevelopment authority (Racon), when asked if the project was temporarily dead, said the word "temporary" was about the most encouraging thing he'd heard.

"Great Disappointment"
"It's a great disappointment, of course, but also somewhat a relief that the council showed its feelings at this time before we had invested any more time, money and effort," Byfield added.

Where the council's action leaves Racon is "too early to have a firm feeling for," Byfield said.

The two new aldermen, who had not been on the council when it first approved redevelopment in March on a 3 vote, both indicated that a fear of exorbitant rents was a factor in their opposition.

School Bids Exceed Budget

NEENAH — During the next two weeks, he, Ellis pointed to the 13-vote margin in last year's referendum on the school. He also said, "We can't afford a champagne taste on a beer budget."

During a special school board meeting earlier, Harold Holding, project coordinator, said that and in the office can't pick up the last thing the architects would consider would be to reduce the educational program planned.

"Last Resort"
He said they would look at all other costs to try to come up with the $500,000, and cutting the educational program would be "the court of last resort."

Third Ward Ald. Michael G. Ellis said last night that he couldn't buy this $500,000 overrun. You could have designed a structure which would have come closer to the $4.5 million limit.

Rebid Project
He suggested that there would be more economy in rebidding the project.

However, Holding said that a redesign and rebid would mean "major educational program changes." He said it would take about six months to rebid plus three more months before construction could start because of the weather.

Because of the delay and mounting construction costs, it could mean a loss of $800,000 or $900,000 just to try to come up with the $500,000 reduction.

Stalin's Daughter Crossing U.S. by Car To Get to Wisconsin
PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Svetlana Alliluyeva Peters, daughter of the late Soviet dictator Joseph Stalin, is about to achieve a long-standing ambition to travel by car through the United States.

William Wesley Peters, the architect she married here April 7, said Tuesday they would fly to San Francisco within a week and start out by car for Spring Green, Wis.

Peters manages the Taliesin West architectural school of the late Frank Lloyd Wright near Scottsdale and is making the trip to move summer activities to the Taliesin East school at Spring Green.

State to Pick Up Tab for More Municipal Spending in Future
NEENAH — Future state legislatures will be asked to finance a greater share of local government costs, particularly in the case of Winnebago County, where state taxes are expected to pay more state taxes that are returned to local municipalities, a tax researcher said here Wednesday.

John P. Reynolds of the Wisconsin Taxpayers Alliance, or appointed county executives, spoke to the Neenan Kiwanis Club, reviewing tax trends in the 1960's and making predictions for the next decade.

Pay More
Reynolds also said there would be a concerted effort in the 1971 Legislature by the County taxpayers pay $1.27 in paper industry to throw out the state taxes, county and the local sales tax on fuel and energy government units within its sources.

Paper Lobby
His group, a nonpartisan citizen-supported research organization, is compiling figures on what the tax has cost the industry and will make comparisons with other states, which have a significant paper industry, Reynolds said. The industry itself is expected to come up with its own figures to support its lobbying efforts.

Pointing to the problem of Wisconsin university graduates going outside the state for jobs after their education is completed, Reynolds urged an effort to expand economic growth, particularly in scientific fields, to create jobs for graduates.

Export Graduates
"What sense does it make to invest millions of dollars in education if we export our graduates to other states in search of jobs and lose them as future Wisconsin taxpayers because growth of the state's economy hasn't kept pace with the rest of the nation?" Reynolds asked.

Noting that $970 million of the $1.6 billion 1969-71 state budget is spent for education, Reynolds predicted some falloff in the rate of educational cost increases as the end of the post-World War II "baby boom" brings a slackening in enrollment.

Joseph Krause Named to Neenah City Hall Job

NEENAH — Former Ninth Ward Ald. Joseph Kraus, 419 Cambridge Court, was named to the $11,500 post of director of administration by the city council Wednesday.

Kraus, who will take office April 2 midway in his second term. The director of administration job had been open since April 7 when its previous holder, Roman V. Hauser, was elected mayor.

The council had interviewed about a dozen applicants in executive sessions in previous weeks. Kraus was recommended for the job Monday by the finance committee. He is a former price supervisor for Neenah Foundry Co.

Adams Pledges Action On Ballpark in 60 Days

MENASHA — An option on years left in which to exercise land for a new Menasha Ballpark will be signed within the next 30 to 60 days.

Mayor James Adams said it might happen — "one way or the other" — to avoid any further delays in finding a new site for the field.

The search for a site has been going on for too long, the mayor feels. There should be no more delays.

3-Man Group
The search began last September, when then-mayor John Klein appointed a 3-man committee to investigate and make recommendations on a site for a new ballpark.

The present Menasha Ballpark has been optioned by the city to International Wireworks, whose Sixth Street plant abuts the field.

The firm will pay $17,500 per acre for the 3 1/2-acre site, but the city will be able to keep the stands and other stadium paraphernalia for the new park.

1967 Option
The firm signed the option in 1967 and still has about four

It notified the city last September that it intends to exercise the option, but gave no date.

There are now four sites being considered for the ballpark; all are on the north side of the city.

Aldermen have held several executive sessions to discuss land purchases, and the ballpark committee has recommended purchase of one site.

Other sites are being investigated, however, including one which the mayor himself believes is a plum. It is 16 acres near Federal Aid.

The original attempt to find a site roughly the size of the present ballpark has blossomed into something bigger since the city has learned that they can get federal aids for parkland and acquisition.

The idea now is to purchase a ballpark - park site and get federal aids for the 10 acres or so of parkland. The six acres of ball park land would have to be purchased entirely by the city.

But enrollment in state-supported universities will increase 50,000 by 1980 before it starts leveling off, which will mean increasing education costs for some time and motivation for the Wisconsin economy to provide job opportunities, Reynolds said.

Shawano Man Bound Over in Obscenity Case

Indictment Alleges Sale of Magazine To City Detective

The case of a 33-year-old Appleton bookseller, Erral J. Simpson, route 3, Shawano, was bound over to the Circuit Court this morning after a preliminary hearing. Simpson is charged with selling obscene magazines to a detective.

Outagamie County Dist. Atty. James R. Long hoped late this morning to achieve a similar bindover on the case of Thomas Hamm, 28, route 2, Clintonville, a former clerk at the same bookstore.

Appleton police allege Simpson sold a magazine entitled "Flip Flop" to a detective April 13, and the publication "Head's Up" to the same detective April 28.

Hamm is named in three counts of selling indecent magazines to police authorities April 8 and 14.

Both men, who appeared in County Court Branch 2 before Judge Nick F. Schaefer, are free on $1,500 bonds.

The obscenity statute under which both have been charged declares illegal the sale of publications which appeal to prurient interests, have no redeeming social value, or go beyond what might be considered the correct moral standard in the community.

Simpson's attorney argue that the state failed to meet its burden of proof on the case because no experts testified as to the relative degree of obscenity present in the publication.

A great attempt is being made "to drive the material off the market" as a result, he said.

He cited the fact there was no pandering or advertising present to push the magazines upon those who didn't want to purchase them. He argued that there could be no crime, since the rights of the individual were not being violated.

"I am satisfied that the state is not compelled to produce experts in a proceeding of this kind," Schaefer said. The material here goes "beyond what the community standard may be," he said.

In his closing argument, Long cited the fact that producing a witness who could accurately describe the moral fiber of the community would probably be impossible, and that the magazines could be considered to be contrary to the standards of the nation.

replace Goodland Field with another minor league field, and he predicted that if Mulvihill's proposal were taken seriously it could well prompt the Chicago White Sox to look elsewhere to headquarters their Appleton Foxes farm club.

In other business, commissioners adopted a list of 13 permanent ice skating rinks and approved installing water service to replace fire hydrants for flooding them.

The locations are at Jones, Arbustus, Erb, Linwood, Memorial, Mead and Pierce parks, and at schools or school sites including Highlands, Lincoln, Old McKinley, New McKinley, Hunder and Colony Oaks.

The School Board has agreed to finance water risers at the schools and the commission voted to put in a riser at Pierce Park. Other parks already are equipped with risers or need minor work.

Old McKinley School is the only one the School Board has not agreed to equip, and the commission left that site open for negotiations. New installations will cost $290 each, according to the Water Department.

The commission also plans to have department heads explore a School Board offer to use Old McKinley as storage space for in the off-season.

COG Meeting Is Postponed

KIMBERLY — A meeting of the Fox Valley Council of Governments originally scheduled for 7 tonight at the new Kimberly Village Hall has been postponed until 7 p.m. Tuesday at the same location after several area officials indicated they would be unable to attend tonight.

Items on the agenda include a staff report on a regional sewerage plan and regional requirements, transportation, housing, Town of VandenBroek petition for membership, open space report and recommendation, a list of COG area projects funded through the Omnibus Crime Act and discussion of support for a bill to authorize use of insured loan funds for water and waste disposal loans to tax exempt public bodies.

Woman, Not Husband Gets Tavern License

The Appleton City Council record and the department was Wednesday night granted a tavern license to a woman whose husband recently was refused a license for the same establishment because of his involvement in an armed holdup.

Mrs. Laura Kapitzke was given the combination beer and liquor license for the Tiger's Den, 509 N. Appleton St., and also received a mechanical amusement device license for the tavern.

The council voted 11-7 to grant the license after Police Chief Earl O. Wolff said Mrs. Kapitzke "assured me he would not be operating the tavern as a matter of subterfuge."

Wolff referred to Gerald L. Kapitzke, who was refused the license on police advice because of his involvement in an armed holdup of a local tavern.

Kapitzke was granted immunity from prosecution when he testified against the man accused of the actual holdup. Wolff explained.

But the chief said there was nothing but a minor traffic violation in Mrs. Kapitzke's record.

Deadline Is July 31 For Property Taxes

KAUKAUNA — A story in the Wednesday Post-Crescent said that the deadline for the second half of property tax payments was July 1. Roger Belling, city treasurer, had reported that payments must be made at the office of the Outagamie County Ind. Treasurer, rather than with him. The correct deadline is July 31.

Bacich was with the Appleton School System from 1948 to 1958, when he left to accept a teaching position in Waterloo, Iowa.

He graduated from the University of Wisconsin and the Iowa State Teachers College and has written a number of books on music, including "Sing for Fun," a book of songs for children, on which he collaborated with Miss Lucille Fitzsimmons, an Appleton kindergarten teacher for many years.

That book is used in many school systems, including Appleton.

New Areas Prohibited Little Chute Board Curbs Expansion of Trailer Park

LITTLE CHUTE — A resolution restricting further expansion of existing trailer parks and prohibiting the issuance of permits for new parks was adopted Tuesday night by the Village Board.

Trustees said the action was taken in an effort to maintain areas in the village for "proper residential development" and to avoid overcongestion of mobile homes in areas which could develop into nuisance problems.

The board also adopted a resolution requiring payment of a $40 fee by persons petitioning the Board of Appeals to reconsider action by the building inspector.

The fee is to help offset costs of publishing notices of the appeals and to cover expenses of the meeting incurred by the village, trustees explained. The fee must be paid before the Appeal Board will accept the petition or review rulings made by the inspector.

Two ordinances also were adopted by the board. One requires persons seeking zoning changes to file an official form with the village clerk. The forms will be available without charge.

The second ordinance prohibits obstruction of streets and sidewalks. Members said officials have received complaints from citizens saying they were forced to walk on the streets because of parked cars.

Autoists Have Stake In Insurance Dispute

BY ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — The battle over proposals to improve the present system of automobile insurance is about to break out at the federal level. And every auto owner in the country has a big stake in the outcome.

In a speech here recently, Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., said he would soon introduce legislation designed to reduce the cost of insurance and make the system work better for accident victims.

The Senate Antitrust and Monopoly Subcommittee, which he heads, has been studying the problem for several years. He said the subcommittee staff was drawing up a bill that would combine the best features of both the so-called "fault" and "no fault" insurance systems.

The existing system is essentially a "fault" plan in which insurance payments for personal injury and property damage are made to victims after the accident split has been determined. The job of determining fault is often long and costly.

Under a "no-fault" plan, insurance payments would be made directly and promptly to victims, regardless of who was at fault. According to some estimates, this could reduce premiums by as much as 55 per cent.

Such plans have been proposed in a number of states. Variations of the idea have been in effect in the province of Saskatchewan, Canada, since 1946, and in Puerto Rico since last July.

The auto insurance industry itself is almost evenly divided between the present "fault" system and the proposed "no-fault" plan. First signs of the split appeared about a year ago when the American Insurance Association, an industry group, adopted the "no-fault" concept.

Since then, a battle royal has been heating up within the industry, led on the one side by some of the largest insurers, such as Allstate and State Farm. They argue that fixing the responsibility for an accident is important to highway safety.

They also argue that a victim should be allowed to sue for "pain and suffering" and other noneconomic losses which would not be automatically compensated in a no-fault plan.

Among the leaders in the fight to retain the present system is the American Trial Lawyers Association, a group of attorneys whose business often brings them into accident cases.

Many inequities. Almost everyone, including many of these lawyers, concedes that the present system of auto insurance leads to many inequities and much inefficiency. On the latter point, the Senate Subcommittee reports.

That only 45 per cent of every dollar paid in goes back in consumer benefits, compared to 95 cents for most hospitalization plans.

As to inequities, a recent federal study reported that the weekend. A gallon jar was found at the scene and a portion of the blacktop will have to be replaced as a result of the pensated the least. Those who lost more than $25,000 got only 30 per cent back while those who lost $500 averaged $2,250.

In half a million serious cases, total compensation covered only 51 per cent of expenses, with auto insurance paying only 20 per cent.

A system that works like that is obviously not good enough. For a 16-page booklet describing a "no-fault" plan, write to the American Insurance Association, 33 John St., New York, N.Y., 11038.

Hearings Set on Pesticide Rules

MADISON (AP)—Dates were announced today for public hearings in July on pesticide use regulations in Wisconsin.

The Departments of Agriculture and Natural Resources have set up the schedule under a joint hearing arrangement.

The hearings will be held July 10 in Eau Claire, July 22 in Green Bay, July 27 in Milwaukee and July 29 in Madison.

The sessions will take up proposed rules for extensive changes in pesticide use. Both state agencies have rewritten regulations in enforcement areas for which they are responsible because of a new state law.

Regulations of both agencies will be considered at the hearings.

Lawmaker Calls Salary Hike for Lawmakers 'A Breach of Trust'

MADISON (AP)—A pay hike for lawmakers would be a "breach of the trust which we owe the people of the state of Wisconsin," State Rep. Edward Nager, D-Madison, said Wednesday.

"No valid reasons now exist which would justify any pay raises for state legislators," Nager said in a letter answering a questionnaire from the Legislative Compensation Council.

"This is one area where we can show the taxpayer we are really concerned about the steadily mounting burden he is carrying and about economy in government," he said.

Wisconsin's 133 legislators will receive $3,900 per year, starting next year.

Beautification Awards Given

Wilson School of Neenah Receives Special Citation

NEENAH — Sun Prairie's Westside Elementary School students have picked up a lot of things lately, including a trophy for their beautification efforts. The students received the first-place trophy today at an awards luncheon sponsored by the Keep Wisconsin Clean Committee of the Wisconsin Natural Beauty Council and Keep America Beautiful. Inc. T. E. Braganza is chairman of the committee.

The students were cred for their three-month cleanup and landscaping campaign.

Second place in the committee's third annual school contest for beautification, efforts to develop community pride and antilitter projects went to Thorson Elementary School of Cedarburg. A third place plaque was presented to Belleville Elementary School. Seven other schools received governor's citations at the awards luncheon, hosted by Kimberly Clark Corp.

Sun Prairie's entry was a mobilization of all students in picking up trash and debris from the school grounds and neighboring properties. Individual class projects included antipollution posters and skits, handmade litter bags and tree and flowerplanting.

The second place Thorson students were recognized for their work in extending their classroom activities outdoors to a 20-acre site being developed with the help of the Cedarburg Planning Commission, the Green Thumb Garden Club and the Department of Natural Resources.

Belleville students' E-Day and tree planting activities earned a third place plaque.

The seven schools receiving governor's citations were West Salem Elementary School, Langlade Elementary of Green Bay, Washington Elementary and Junior High of Oconto, Milwaukee's Hampton School, Wilson School of Neenah, Kendall Elementary School and Oliver E. Gray Elementary School of Platteville.

'Natural Childbirth' Means No Anesthetic

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.
Dear Dr. Thosteson Several years ago I experienced "natural childbirth." I was given no anesthetic, no saddle block, absolutely nothing. It was a rewarding experience. Several women have had babies in the last few months. They were given paracervicals. They talk about what a "great experience" their "natural childbirth" was. Are both ways considered natural childbirth?
— B. L. H.

Dr. Thosteson

True natural childbirth means (and the exercises make the that no anesthetic or painkilling birth much easier. measures are used. It is the When anesthetics (paracervi- type of childbirth encountered in cal, caudal, saddle block) are police cars, taxicabs, and air-given, this is not true natural planes. dered—taking up the cudgels for or against natural childbirth. It depends on the mother and her wishes to some extent, but also the judgment of her doctor. Natural childbirth isn't for everyone. You may argue—correctly—that years ago before anesthetics, natural childbirth was the only kind we had. Well true. But generations ago women worked in the fields and didn't need the exercises that now are part of the preparation for natural childbirth. Besides that, giving birth was a far more hazardous experience to both mother and child than it now is. Today, the obstetrician takes into consideration the type of birth. The mother, anesthetic to be used (that is Egbert decides. When Egbert however, is fully aware of what strictly his choice), the number decides to move, he moves' is going on otherwise of children the mother has had. For the most part, women I'm not—in case you won-her pelvic measurements, esti-

Not the least of the considerations is the mother's psychological and emotional state. Natural childbirth is not painless and the woman with a low pain threshold may not tolerate it well. (I know of some women who tried it once but not again.) His "hay fever" indicates that he has developed allergic problems. My advice is to consult an allergist. Dear Dr. Thosteson My husband is 27. has always been healthy, rarely caught colds, and had no history of hay fever. In the last two years he catches one cold after another.

"Horrendous. Heaps" is a subject our young gagsters like to hammer away at. Ron made his cartoon work by "thinking it through." After all, how do you insure one of these thungamajigs? The lesson here is that you can construct a gag by developing a kookie item or situation and then apply it to normal, everyday necessities.

Have some cartoons you'd like us to see? If you're high school age or younger, we'll pay $10 for original cartoons we print. Send them to Cartoon Bug, c/o this newspaper. Sorry but the Bug can't return any not accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Outside Funds Aided UW Research Project

MADISON — How much does it cost to synthesize a gene, and who pays for it? University of Wisconsin President Fred Harvey Harrington made an effort to find out last weekend in a report to UW Regents on Dr. Har Gobind Khorana's recent announcement of the first complete laboratory synthesis of a gene.

Harrington called Khorana's accomplishment "the most significant event of the year for the University of Wisconsin," and said he could answer questions about its cost only in terms of the total support of Khorana's work since he came to Wisconsin a decade ago.

In the 10 years Dr. Khorana has been with us, he has directed projects totalling $27 million," Harrington reported. "In this total were $226,000 of state appropriations. Thus for every dollar the State of Wisconsin put into the studies by him and his group over the period, Dr. Khorana's group attracted $10 from the outside."

In addition to the state appropriation, the university invested a similar amount ($230,000) from the Wisconsin Alumni Research Foundation; which included Dr. Khorana's full salary as Elvehjem Professor since 1964.

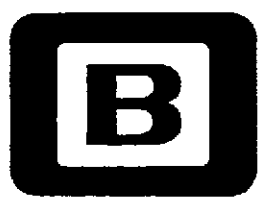

The major support of the Khorana group's work came from federal agencies, just over $2 million. Of this, $1.5 million came from the National Institutes of Health, $500,000 from the National Science Foundation and $1,000 from the Atomic Energy Commission for a fellowship for one of the group's members.

Private agencies which supported their work include the Life Insurance Medical Research Fund, the Upjohn Pharmaceutical Co., and the American Cancer Society. Together these totalled $159,000.

In addition to the $2.2 million provided by federal and private sources to support the Khorana projects, Harrington reported, these agencies also paid indirect costs to the university totalling $337,000, which went into the state treasury to offset state appropriations to the university.

Dairy Industry Groups Urge Bill Approval

Byrnes Would Close Loopholes in Imports Of Milk Products

WASHINGTON — Three organizations representing the dairy industry Tuesday urged the House Ways and Means Committee to approve a bill introduced by Rep. John W. Byrnes, Green Bay, aimed at closing loopholes in dairy imports.

They detailed the problems excessive dairy imports cause for dairy farmers and producers. The Byrnes measure, they believe, will alleviate these problems.

The dairy industry representatives were Patrick B. Healy, secretary, National Milk Producers' Federation; Robert G. Lewis, Washington representative, Wisconsin Cheese Makers' Association; and Gehl's Guernsey Farms, Inc., Germantown; and William C. Eckles, general manager, Pure Milk Products Cooperative, Fond du Lac.

The Byrnes bill would transfer from the Bureau of Customs to the Department of Agriculture the job of defining the dairy products in connection with individual types.

The three representatives also endorsed the proposed Dairy Import Act. It would place an overall ceiling on milk and milk solid imports under which the individual items shipped into the U.S. would be placed.

Inequities in System
Byrnes, the top GOP member of the Ways and Means Committee, joined the discussion of his bill and the act, which he, general purpose blowers, universal replacement blowers and replacement propellers and attic fans.

According to Byrnes, because of the "ingenious devices for avoidance in the present set up, we are virtually inviting foreign countries to thumb their noses at us as far as dairy imports are concerned."

The legislators mentioned several products imported into the U.S., which come under the specific butter-fat regulations covering imports, that later show up on the grocery shelves in some form to compete with domestic products.

"We have done much for the development of new dairy products abroad because of the way we execute section 22 of the Agriculture Act," Byrnes charged. "It just doesn't work."

As an example, he pointed out that section 22 doesn't take care of the whey problem, since whey imports do not affect price supports. Yet, because of imports of whey, the domestic industry is in "dire trouble."

Farmers Severely Hurt
"Dairy farmers are the most severely hurt of any segment of the industry," Healy said, and he pointed out that "when consumption is close to production, and we import large quantities of dairy products, the prices fall to the support level and millions of dollars are lost to the farmers."

Lewis charged that most of the problems in the administration of section 22 have been matters of classification of the products offered for entry into the United States.

"The classification of products as it has been conducted by the customs bureau, has been concerned solely with duty charges," Lewis told the committee. "This purpose is totally unrelated to the central purpose for which the import quotas are established."

Describing the Byrnes bill as "excellent," Eckles predicted it would provide relief for dairy farmers because the "Bureau of Customs is not sensitive to the needs of these farmers."

Members of the committee who attended the hearings appeared sympathetic to the witnesses and to the Byrnes proposal.

Green Bay Company Named Top Distributor

GREEN BAY — The Kerscher Metal Service Co. has been named one of Lau Incorporated's top 10 distributors during 1969. Lau is a major manufacturer of air moving products and humidifiers located in Dayton, Ohio.

Kerscher is area distributor for both residential and commercial powered humidifiers, general purpose blowers, universal replacement blowers and replacement propellers and attic fans.

Kaukauna Youth Gets Selected For West Point

WASHINGTON — Rep. John W. Byrnes has announced the winner of his 1970 competition for appointment to the United States Military Academy from the 8th Congressional District.

He is Gary J. Weyers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton G. Weyers, route 2, Kaukauna, a graduate of Kaukauna High School.

Weyers ranked highest in Byrnes' competition to fill a district vacancy at West Point and has accepted an appointment to the academy. Upon successful completion of four years' study, he will qualify for commission as a second lieutenant in the Army. The competition, as it has been conducted by the customs bureau, has been concerned solely with duty charges," Lewis told the committee. "This purpose is totally unrelated to the central purpose for which the import quotas are established."

Describing the Byrnes bill as "excellent," Eckles predicted it would provide relief for dairy farmers because the "Bureau of Customs is not sensitive to the needs of these farmers."

Members of the committee who attended the hearings appeared sympathetic to the witnesses and to the Byrnes proposal.

tests and ratings conducted by the Civil Service Commission and the academy which began last November.

A similar competition will be conducted for Byrnes' 1971 appointment and the congressmen urged any interested young men who will be between 17 and 22 on July 1 to write him for proposals. These include information as to how they can apply. The district will have standards, meter accuracy and vacancies at Annapolis and the testing, maximum and mini-Air Force Academy as well as mums pressures and operating requirements and records.

Implied Consent Cuts Road Toll—Knowles

ANTIGO (AP)—A "dramatic" decrease in fatalities on Wisconsin's highways and a beefed up law enforcement program have held sway on the roads since May 1, Gov. Warren P. Knowles said Wednesday.

The death rate has dropped from 5.3 deaths to 4.7 deaths per 100,000 miles driven, he said in remarks prepared for the 39th annual Wisconsin River Valley Safety Conference.

"A set of stricter enforcement policies and implied consent went into effect about the same time the decrease began," he said.

Milwaukee City Population Down

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Preliminary census figures released Wednesday placed the city of Milwaukee's population at 709,493, a loss of nearly 35,000 since the 1960 census which placed the figure at 744,396.

However, Milwaukee County gained 10,000 people in the same 10-year period to a present total of 1,046,268.

Census officials stressed that the figures were preliminary.

tubes to go around the tongue of the wagon as in figure 2.
Each towel core can be painted a different color so that, as an example, red, white and blue could be used for Independence Day. Other tubes with other colors can be prepared for other occasions. There can be a collection of interchangeable colors.
Figure 1 shows how to prepare a towel core so it can be fitted around the wagon tongue. Simply slit the tube from one end to the other. Apply the color you want, using poster paints. When the paint has dried, gently spread the tube open and snap it in place around the wagon tongue.
If you want to use three colors and the tongue is not long enough to accommodate three towel colors, the tubes may be reduced to suitable length by cutting them off.

ABA Rejects Contract After Denver Rockets Sign MSU's Simpson

DENVER (AP) — Possible open warfare between the NCAA and the professional American Basketball Association over the American Basketball Association's signing of a Michigan State star with two years' eligibility left apparently has been averted by league action rejecting the contract.

Less than 24 hours after the Rockets announced they had signed Ralph Simpson as "a hardship case," ABA Commissioner Jack Dolph turned thumbs down.

Dolph said Wednesday in a statement that "if such a contract does in fact exist and is submitted to the commissioner, it would be rejected and a $10,000 fine assessed against the Denver club.

Don Ringsby, president and general manager of the Rockets, had announced Simpson's signing with some fanfare Tuesday. But after the commissioner's statement was issued on the first day of the ABA's annual meeting, Ringsby said he would have nothing to say.

However, he gave strong indication the Rockets are not likely to risk the fine by adding, "I am bound by the action of the league at our meeting this morning. I could be fined if I said anything."

Landed Haywood
Less than a year ago the Rockets signed Spencer Haywood, a University of Detroit star, who like Simpson had completed only his sophomore year. Denver also termed this a hardship situation.

Dolph issued his statement in the Simpson case after the NCAA headquarters in Kansas City had called upon member schools to boycott the ABA.

Later, University of Kentucky Coach Adolph Rupp, president of the National Association of Basketball Coaches, announced, "The air is cleared."

"It's all over," Rupp said, apparently referring to the call for a boycott. "I've had a call from Commissioner Dolph and it's all over with."

The assistant executive director of the NCAA, Arthur Bergstrom, said at Kansas City the collegiate organization would have no further comment immediately. He said "we'll just hold that in abeyance and see what happens regarding Simpson."

Dolph said at a news conference Wednesday night that officials of two ABA clubs had been contacted by a man identifying himself as Simpson. "I'd rather not say what franchises these were and we have no proof it was Simpson who actually made the calls," he said.

Court Possibilities
Asked about the possibility of court action concerning the Simpson-Rocket contract, Dolph said, "If we have to go to court, we will."

'Dairy Night' Slated This Evening

One-Hitter, Rain Combine to Lead Cards Past Foxes, 3-0

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN

Post-Crescent Sports Editor

Appleton, one of the Midwest League's hottest teams in the last three weeks, was cooled off Wednesday night by a maxi-pitching chore and a mini cloudburst.

The league Wednesday chose Wendell Cherry of the Kentucky Colonels as its new president.

General managers of the ABA will meet in Salt Lake City mid July to study a 1970-71 schedule. Each team again will play 84 regular season games, but to shorten the time period.

The same two teams are due to meet in Salt Lake City in the annual "Dairy Night" game—with the same two teams are due to meet in Salt Lake City in the annual "Dairy Night" game—with the Foxes owning a 2-1 series edge.

Within 1 Out

Stedman, a 6-foot-1 right-hander from Libby, Mont., came within one out of the Midwest League's first no-hitter of the season. In the seventh, and what turned out to be the final inning for the Foxes, Appletton had two out.

Ken Hotman stepped up and belted a robust triple to right center field. Stedman induced Wayne Francigones to pop out, and preserve the shutout.

The loss, which ended the Foxes' win streak at three, was only their second setback in the last seven games and only their sixth reversal in the last 21 starts.

Appletton right-hander Mike Atkinson was a match for Stedman for five innings. The sixth turned out to be the story of the game.

Cedar Rapids' Mel Pettigrew came up with one out in the sixth and worked Atkinson for a 3-1 count. Mike then grooved, one and the Cards' center fielder swatted it over the right center field fence for the first

Stocker paced the hitters with three singles and a double.

Koch plated the only run of the Oshkosh game with a line single to left center to score Jim Pelky in the first inning.

Pelky reached on a hit batsman and took second on a passed ball.

Shawano at GB West also was rained out Wednesday.

Today's schedule has Menasha opening its Fox Valley schedule at Fond du Lac, 1-1; Neenah (0-1) at Mayville (1-1); Sturgeon Bay (5-0) at Oconto (2-2); and Seymour (1-1) at Shawano (2-2).

Rain and strong winds played havoc with most of the other schedule in the league. South paw Rick Koch fanned 16 and blanked Sheboygan, 1-0, on four hits as Oshkosh evened its Lower Southern slate at 2-2. A strong wind, followed by a downpour halted the New London and Appleton game after 1 1/2 innings. Peshtigo at Clintonville and Green Bay East at Seymour also were called after they had been started. All games will be restarted.

Appleton will meet New London at 8:15 p.m. Monday, with GBE at Seymour also slated Monday. Peshtigo-Clintonville will be played July 17.

Strong Winds
The wind lifted the roof off the Appleton dugout at New London's Hatten Stadium, but nobody was injured.

Waupaca handed Kaukauna its first defeat behind the 4-hit pitching of John Holly. Holly struck out 13 and walked only one.

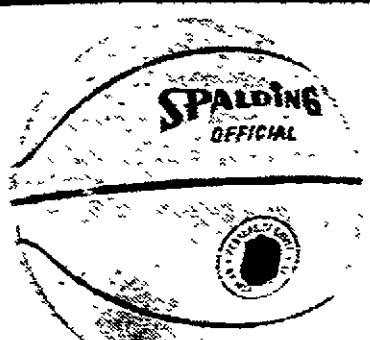

Back-to-back doubles by Bob Weisbrod and Dan Stocker in Simpson-Rocket contract, Dolph said, "If we have to go to court, we will."

Brabender Stymies Floundering Orioles

Hegan, Roof Blasts Pace Brews Win

By DICK COUCH

There are few pigeons left in Gene Brabender's coop, but he still has some rare birds in hand... the Baltimore Orioles Brabender, a former Baltimore pitching prospect who has migrated to Milwaukee, shackled his ex-teammates for 5 1/3 innings Wednesday night as the lowly Brewers ambushed the sagging Orioles 5-1.

It was only the second victory for Brabender since April 26... and both have been at Baltimore's expense.

Despite their fourth loss in five games, the Orioles retained a two-game lead in the American League East as the Chicago White Sox cooled off the second place New York Yankees 6-3.

Detroit beat Oakland 9-7; Boston took Kansas City 3-1 and Washington topped Minnesota 3-1 in other AL games. California and Cleveland were rained out.

Hegan Homers

Mike Hegan's three-run homer and a solo shot by Phil Roof helped Brabender, 3-8 over-all, bring his two-year record against Baltimore to 4-2. The big right-hander, who got relief help from Bob Humphreys in the seventh, was 2-2 against the Orioles while pitching for Seattle last year.

He left the game with a 2-1 lead, built on Roof's homer off Dave McNally in the fifth and a sixth inning sacrifice fly by Dave May, who was making his first start for the Brewers after being dealt to them by the Orioles Tuesday.

Humphreys checked Baltimore the rest of the way and Hegan broke the game open with his seventh inning blast.

Pitcher Jerry Jansky drove in three runs with a single and squeeze bunt as the White Sox ended the Yankees' winning streak at six games. Catcher Duane Josephson drilled three singles and a double and scored three Chicago runs.

Girls With Padded Bras Get Warning From Track Group

LONDON (AP) — Girl athletes who breast the finishing line with padded bras—known as falsies—were given a stern warning today by the women's Amateur Athletic Association.

The association said it was taking measures to end this practice, which has gone against boosted bras.

"We want to be sure that the girls are not padded ones," Marea Hartman, the secretary of the association, said.

Miss Hartman said she will be in the dressing rooms at London's Crystal Palace Stadium made bigger.

"I have often said I could sure the ruling is kept in the association's annual championship-up front," she said.

"We think it is high time that built-up curves are ruled out of line that what I wasn't blessed international women's racing.

Lee Trevino Picks Himself and Player As Golfers to Beat

CHASKA, Minn. (AP) — Lee Trevino, no longer discouraged by the first ball he ever hit at the Western Open, Player and Hazeltine National, classed himself and Gary Player as the par 72, 7,151-yard Hazeltine. Trevino arrived nine days ago. Open golf championship.

Trevino, the wise-cracking Mexican-American from El Paso, Tex., and Player, the lithe South African, played more practice rounds leading up to today's first round than any other in the field of 136 professionals and 14 amateurs.

Final Match Will Pit Best Defense Against Top Offense

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Brazil and Italy, exhausted by the nerve-jangling semifinals in the World Soccer Cup, rested today before going into Sunday's match which will determine the champion.

Brazil used its goal-scoring magic on a bruising Uruguayan defense to win 3-1 Wednesday at Guadalajara.

Italy, relaxing its guard in the dying minutes of the game with a 1-0 lead had to fight back to top West Germany 4-3 in an overtime scoring duel here. Even the backs of both teams scored in the dramatic finale.

West Germany, which already has played two overtimes in this World Cup, will meet Uruguay in a consolation match Saturday in Mexico City. The game will determine third and fourth place.

Among Favorites
Brazil and Italy had been among the top favorites before the three week-long World Cup began.

Italy's defense is probably the toughest in the world. Its goalie, Enrico Albertosi, has only conceded four goals in the tournament so far.

But the best defense will be facing the best offense.

The Brazilians have scored 15 goals in five games so far. Only West Germany, with 16, has done better.

Brazil, twice winner of the World Cup is given an edge in Sunday's finals at Mexico City's Azteca Stadium.

The two teams have met only once before in World Cup competition, in 1938, in France.

Italy won 2-1 in a semi-final round and went on to take the Jules Rimet Trophy by beating Hungary 4-2.

Nye Is Recalled
MONTREAL (AP) — The Montreal Expos recalled south-paw pitcher Rich Nye from their Winnipeg farm club in the International League Wednesday to fill in for Mike Wegener, who begins a 10-day military reserve tour today.

Nye, 25, was 1-2 with Winnipeg and had a 1.73 earned run average. He was acquired by the Expos from the St. Louis Cardinals on May 15.

An Errant Emu named Horace has found a home at a golf course at Deniliquin, Australia. At left, Horace follows the gallery, and at right he stretches for a golf ball, which he swallows as a matter of course. Horace was captured twice and evicted from the course, but returned each time. The Aussie golfers developed a fondness for him and gave up trying to move him again. (AP Wirephoto)

Quarry Regains Title Contention

NEW YORK (AP) — The the new heavyweight sensation, fight game's slam-bang, good went down before the flailing old days were on review as part of a tribute to Jack Dempsey, Irishman who put himself back in the role of a leading contender for the title of champion. Then, the crowd settled back into the role of a leading contender for the title of champion. Then, the crowd settled back into the role of a leading contender for the title of champion.

That was Madison Square Garden Wednesday night as a crowd of 15,915 turned out to wish a happy 75th birthday to Dempsey, the old Manassa Mauler, and sit in on the big town debut of Foster, the massive ex-Marine from Fresno, Calif., with 24 knockouts in 24 fights.

They roared as Dempsey, the legend and the memory, demolished Jess Willard and Georges Carpentier on large movie screens at each end of the arena. Then they roared as Foster,

Brewers Obtain Jose Herrera in Montreal Trade
MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Brewers obtained the contract of utility player Jose Herrera from Montreal Wednesday to complete a deal in which relief pitcher John O'Donoghue went to the Expos last week.

Herrera, a 26-year-old Venezuelan who plays both outfield and infield, had been at Winnipeg of the International League and will report to Jacksonville of the Southern League today.

Herrera batted .285 in 47 games with Montreal last season and batted .210 after his first 139 plate appearances this season.

White Sox Option Johnson to Tucson
CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox optioned right-hander Bart Johnson to Tucson of the Pacific Coast League and on to the ring apron with Wednesday.

Johnson, 20, has had arm trouble. In five starts this season he had an 0-2 record with a .865 earned run average.

Trade Statements

Owners, Players See Verbal Fight

NEW YORK (AP) — The battle line is expected to be drawn today between the owners and players of the National Football League.

In the wake of a Wednesday night statement from Texas day. He had no further comment.

las Cowboys and chairman of the Players Relations Committee for the NFL owners that "we will in no way compromise the office of the commissioner," a spokesman for the NFL Players Association said they would have a statement sometime today. He had no further comment.

The owners and the players have been negotiating over the terms of a new contract to replace the two-year pact that has expired.

In his statement, issued in Dallas on behalf of the NFL Owners Negotiating Committee, Schramm said the Players Association had challenged the commissioner's role and also that a failure by the players to honor previous commitments is hampering collective bargaining on matters other than wages and salaries.

Outgrowth of Meeting
Schramm's statement apparently stemmed from last week's meeting in Baltimore between the Owners Committee and the Players Association.

The statement said "The issue of the commissioner's role was one created June 9 by the players and it is now up to them to withdraw the challenge or both parties must await the NLRB ruling." He referred to the National Labor Relations Board hearing in Minneapolis June 9.

Schramm said that if the commissioner's role was reduced to that solely of an employer of 1,200 men it would make his office "totally ineffectual and make him incapable of administering the sport of professional football."

In New York, a spokesman for Commissioner Pete Rozelle, Jim Kensil, executive director of the NFL, said that "negotiations are a matter between the owners and the players and our office, at this time, would have no comment on any statement by either group."

Purse Set at $5,000 for Midget Races
KAUKAUNA — A purse of $5,000 will be offered Saturday night at the KK Sports Arena as the USAC midget cars race in a 50-lap feature event.

Some of the top midget car drivers in the Midwest will complete, including Bob Tatter, Dave Strickland, Roger West, and Mike McGreevy. The race will start at 8 p.m. There will be no Friday racing.

On Sunday KK will present the United Drag Racers Association (UDRA) gas coupes and sedans.

Drivers from Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, and Canada will compete in the 1,200 men it would make his office "totally ineffectual and make him incapable of administering the sport of professional football."

Leonard Lyles Named College Board Trustee

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Leonard Lyles, a former professional football player, was nominated Wednesday for a seat on the new University of Louisville Board of Trustees.

Jefferson County Judge Todd Hollenbach said he will submit Lyles' name along with two others, from which Gov. Louie B. Nunn will select one member of the board.

Lyles was a star back at Louisville before playing with the San Francisco 49ers and Baltimore Colts of the National Football League. He recently retired.

Dave Whitsell Is Given Release By New Orleans
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Waivers were asked by the New Orleans Saints Wednesday for rookie Bill Nixon and two veterans, Dave Whitsell and Olie Cordell.

Whitsell, 34, said he asked for his release after a talk with Coach Tom Fears. "I didn't think that I fit very well into the Saints' plan for 1970," he said.

Whitsell is a defensive back. Cordell, 27, signed with the National Football League Saints as a free agent last year and worked mostly as a punter, compiling a 40.9 yard average.

Nixon, a 185-pound cornerback from Allen, was signed by the Saints as a free agent

Committee Sets Public Hearing

New Legislative Group to Consider Citizen Proposals

The newly formed Legislative Committee of the City Council has scheduled a public hearing for July 30 to hear citizens' proposals for changes in state law to benefit cities and local residents.

The committee, holding its organization meeting Monday, also endorsed a proposal by the chairman, Ald. Walter Kalata (2nd) to make special assessments against private property deductible for state and federal income tax purposes.

City Clerk Elden Broehm, a member of the five-man committee, was instructed to send copies of the proposal to local state legislators, Rep. John Byrnes, R-Green Bay, and the Wisconsin Alliance of Cities.

The clerk also is instructed to publish an official notice of the July 30 hearing, scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the council chambers at City Hall.

Topics such as tax relief for the elderly, the special assessment tax deduction and proposals to relieve local property taxes were suggested for discussion at the hearing.

The committee, which also includes Aldermen Thomas Mulvihill (14th) and Peter Beckley (10th), and County Supv. Paul Huseby of Appleton, was formed as a link between the city and the Alliance, of which Appleton is a member.

The purpose is to involve local officials in the process of setting Alliance policy on state legislative proposals affecting cities.

Phnom Penh Threatened as Reds Cut Two Major Highways

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia near Skoun, 38 miles northeast of Angkor seven miles to the east. (AP) — Enemy troops severed of the capital. This is the only two more major highways out of land route to the provincial and Phnom Penh today, cutting traf-regional military headquarters fic between the threatened capi-at Kompong Cham, where two tal and Saigon and isolating a Cambodian regiments are large Cambodian force at the based.

Highway 1, leading to Saigon, evacuated from embattled Siem Reap, gateway to the ancient Vietnamese troops about 25 temples of Angkor 120 miles south of Phnom Penh, northwest of Phnom Penh. said travelers who tried to use the road.

Potentially more serious was expected soon from enemy forces the cutoff on a second highway entrenched in the historic ruins

Associated Press photogra- pher Ghislain Bellerget who passed through Siem Reap Wednesday said the Viet Cong had stockpiled ammunition and supplies in the temples of Angkor.

In Phnom Penh, the popula- tion waited tensely to see if a threatened attack by the enemy would materialize.

A Buddhist monk who said he escaped from North Vietnamese Wat, the famed temple ruin in Kompong Speu told a northwest Cambodia, as criti- cal. He said the North Viet- namese and Viet Cong had occu- pied nearly all the vast 12th cen- tury ruin, Cambodia's greatest national treasure, and had es- tablished several hospitals and storage areas there.

Propaganda Victory Several diplomats said the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong already had scored a prop- aganda victory by frightening the city's population. Mean- while, Phnom Penh was quiet.

A military spokesman reported fighting in Kompong Thom, a provincial capital 80 miles north of Phnom Penh, and said South Vietnamese helicopters and gunships were flying in support of the ground troops.

He also reported scattered fighting around Kompong buildings.

Angkor Wat The spokesman also described the situation around Angkor Wat, the famed temple ruin in northwest Cambodia, as criti- cal. He said the North Viet- namese and Viet Cong had occu- pied nearly all the vast 12th cen- tury ruin, Cambodia's greatest national treasure, and had es- tablished several hospitals and storage areas there.

"More seriously," he added, "they are putting in anti-aircraft gun emplacements around the temples."

Cambodian fighter-bombers are attacking enemy positions in the vicinity of the temples but are staying clear of the ruins themselves, the spokesman said. The Cambodian govern- ment has declared Angkor an "open city," saying its troops would make no move against enemy forces occupying them in order to avoid damage to the buildings. WASHINGTON (AP) — Al- though President Nixon has said "the great majority" of U.S. forces would be out of Cambo- dia by now authoritative sources say half the number of American troops sent into that nation are still there.

The President also has prom- ised to have all American troops out by June 30. He repeated the pledge Wednesday in his tele- vised report to the nation on economic conditions.

As of Wednesday, however, the sources said about 10,000 American troops remain in Cambodia "still searching, still sweeping and still removing en- emy supplies" from the jungle

Wind Damage Heaviest in Seymour Area

Wind Gusts Reach 59 m.p.h. as Storm Strikes Valley

High winds Wednesday night blew off the roof of a building next to the power company's district garage in Seymour, causing a delay in restoring power. The roof landed on the ground directly in front of the garage and crewmen had to chop through it with their axes before they could go out and repair downed power lines in the area.

Seymour and the northern part of Outagamie County were hardest hit by the storm, al- though residents in Appleton, Neenah and other cities were without power for short times as winds gusted up to 59 m.p.h. about 9 p.m.

In downtown Seymour, win- dows were smashed in many businesses along Main Street. Wires, poles and trees were down and the doors were ripped off the Seymour Lumber Co. About 290 persons were without power from one-half to several hours.

On the south side of Appleton, 500 electric users were without service for about three hours. In Neenah, 100 persons in the Island area were blacked out for several hours.

A main fuse blew in Com- bined Locks and the village was without electricity for about an hour. Firemen were called to stand by for downed wires at 416 W. Sixth St. and at the corner of Joyce and Harrison streets in Kaukauna. Small branches were downed, but no serious damage was reported in the city.

About 200 persons were out of power for varying lengths of time in Weyauwega. Crews worked all night in the storm areas, and almost all service was restored between midnight and 1 a.m.

Lightning struck a power pole and started a fire on North Lake Street at Fritz Park in the Town of Menasha. Hot wires across the street required a road block at about 9 p.m.

The Appleton Fire Depart- ment reported no storm-related fires, but stood by at two city locations where power lines were down.

One unit was sent shortly

Joining Army

Widow Replaces Heroic Husband

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (AP)

— Shirley Jean Bellrichard, 25, widow of a Medal of Honor winner killed in Vietnam, joins the Army today to carry on for her husband.

"I want to see some of the things he saw," Mrs. Bellri- chard said a year after visit- ing the White House to receive from President Nixon the award for Pfc. Leslie Bell- richard.

The 25-year-old soldier from Janesville, Wis., was a fire- team leader in central Viet- nam on May 29, 1967, when an enemy shell burst threw him off balance an instant after he pulled a grenade pin.

The grenade fell into a foxhole he was sharing with four other soldiers. He deli- berately fell on the grenade, using his body to shield his comrades as it exploded.

He survived a few minutes, firing his rifle at the charging enemy until he died.

After swearing in ceremon- ies at Oakland Army Induc- tion Center, Mrs. Bellrichard will go to Ft. McClellan, Ala., for eight weeks of basic training. She said she wants to become an Army nurse. She already has studied nursing for 10 months at nearby Foothill College.

Mrs. Bellrichard, who was married five years before her husband was sent overseas, said:

"I hope they send me to Vietnam. I want to see some of the things he saw."

Where she will be assigned after training will be deter- mined by the Army.

"She wants to carry on for Leslie," said her mother, Edna France. "We're all very proud of her."

Mrs. Bellrichard's sister, Jan- net Jones, said, "It's some- thing she has wanted to do. I approve. I think our country needs something like this."

By enlisting, Mrs. Bell- richard forfeits $350 to $400 a month in Army and other survivor benefits in exchange for a private's pay of $124.60 a month, the Army said.

Six More Wounded In Miami Violence

MIAMI (AP) — Six persons suffered gunshot wounds during the night as Miami moved into a fourth day of racial violence.

Police said the victims, in- cluding a 60-year-old woman, were struck by bullets as sni- pers hidden in darkened build- ings traded shots with officers.

Gunfire crackled in most Negro sections of the city with heavy exchanges in the Brown- ville district where the violence first erupted Monday in a dis- pute between a white grocer and his black customers.

Despite a curfew covering nearly half of the city, scattered groups of young Negroes ranged through the streets throwing bottles and stones and looting.

More than a dozen firebomb- ings were reported. Two schools were slightly damaged.

Two of Wednesday night's gunshot victims were struck as they stood on a balcony watch- ing firemen fight a blaze at a firebombed store.

None of the six wounded in the latest outburst was reported in serious condition. Two of five wounded Tuesday night were critically injured.

Police said more than 50 per- sons were arrested, mostly for curfew violations. One teen-ager was charged with attempted ar- son.

Many residents in the trouble areas, obliged to stay in their homes because of the curfew, complained they were being tear gassed by policemen spray- ing areas suspected of harbor- ing snipers.

"I am nonviolent and have six small children," said Mrs. Vi- nella Tucker. "But this police car came down the street with a machine that was spraying like a mosquito control truck. It looked like smog, but it was tear gas."

In a speech Wednesday before a public affairs seminar spon- sored by the International Tele- phone & Telegraph Co., he said, "There are a few who attack the system—I think only a few—and demand its elimination."

But I have been greatly en- couraged in recent months by those students and other young people who have announced their resolve to work, as they put it, within the system," he said.

"They have not given up," he added, "and I praise their will- ingness to continue to try."

The vice president cautioned young people seeking social and political change to expect change to come slowly and said "this can be frustrating, espe- cially to young people with high hopes."

As for the 18-year-old vote, Celler said it carries a provision calling for a prompt judicial test and a review by the Su- preme Court that should settle any constitutional question be- fore January 1. In Celler's opin- ion the Supreme Court will find it unconstitutional.

The key vote Wednesday came on an attempt by Rep. H. Allen Smith, R-Calif., to send the bill to conference. The House rejected the motion 24 to 183 and passage of the bill by the much wider margin fol- lowed.

The outcome was a triumph for an unlikely coalition of youthful, idealistic volunteers and gray, practical politicians who helped build the winning margin through weeks of hard lobby.

One of the coalition's moving spirits was 78-year-old House Speaker John W. McCormack, who made passage of the bill his key remaining goal before retir- ing at the end of this term.

Under the provision affecting the 18-year-olds they would be permitted to vote in all federal, state and local elections.

Among those voting for the proposal was Rep. David Obey, D-Wausau. Republicans John Byrnes, Green Bay, and William Steiger, Oshkosh, voted with the minority.

Fate Now Depends On Nixon

By JOHN BECKLER

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bold bit of strategy by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mans- field has helped Congress pass a generation gap-bridging bill that lowers the voting age to 18.

By a 272-132 vote the House Wednesday accepted the 18-year-old vote provision as part of a Senate-passed bill that also continues the 1965 Voting Rights Act for five more years.

House approval sent the pack- age to President Nixon, putting him under the same pressure that Mansfield's strategy ap- plied to the House—accept the bill on both counts or risk fur- ther alienation of the nation's youth and its blacks.

Nixon has said he supports the 18-year-old vote, but only through a constitutional amend- ment, not by a simple act of Congress. He also has opposed extending the 1965 Voting Rights Act, which applies mainly to seven Southern states, on grounds it is regional legisla- tion.

Brief Debate

At the end of Wednesday's brief but emotional debate, House GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford spoke of Nixon's past op- position and raised the possibi- lity the President might let the bill become law without signing it. There had been earlier spec- ulation of a veto.

Civil rights groups were alarmed when the Senate, at Mansfield's insistence, tied the 18-year-old voting proposal to the bill extending the Voting Rights Act.

One of the most successful civil rights law ever enacted, the 1965 act has resulted in adding a million Negroes to the vot- ing rolls in seven Southern states. Its supporters feared it would be dragged under by the weight of so controversial a pro- posal as teen-age voting.

Celler Unhappy

Particularly unhappy was Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judi- ciary Committee, an ardent sup- porter of the Voting Rights Act but equally strong in his oppo- sition to lowering the voting age. It was mainly to overcome Celler's opposition that Mansfield devised his strategy.

It worked to perfection Wednesday when Celler led the fight to accept the Senate bill, although still no fan of youthful voting.

Celler said there would be no way to save the Voting Rights Act from expiring in August if the House passed only the vot- ing rights extension and fol- lowed the normal procedure of a House-Senate conference to ran- gle over the lower voting age.

Southern foes would force a delay until the August deadline had passed, he said.

Judicial Test

As for the 18-year-old vote, Celler said it carries a provision calling for a prompt judicial test and a review by the Su- preme Court that should settle any constitutional question be- fore January 1. In Celler's opin- ion the Supreme Court will find it unconstitutional.

One of the coalition's moving spirits was 78-year-old House Speaker John W. McCormack, who made passage of the bill his key remaining goal before retir- ing at the end of this term.

Under the provision affecting the 18-year-olds they would be permitted to vote in all federal, state and local elections.

Among those voting for the proposal was Rep. David Obey, D-Wausau. Republicans John Byrnes, Green Bay, and William Steiger, Oshkosh, voted with the minority.

Inflation Worsens

Living Costs Up In All Categories

WASHINGTON (AP) — Liv- ing costs rose four-tenths of one per cent last month, continuing the nation's worst inflationary rate in 20 years of more than 6 per cent annually, the govern- ment reported today.

Costs of all major categories were up, with transportation the largest price hikes in May, said the Bu- reau of Labor Statistics.

The May increase was lower than the rise of six-tenths of one per cent in April, but the Bu- reau of Labor Statistics figured the rises in both months the same on a seasonally-adjusted basis—five-tenths of one per cent.

Price Index The May increase boosted the government's consumer price index to 131.6, meaning it cost $13.46 for every $10 worth of typical family purchases in the 1957-59 period on which the in- dex is based.

The bureau said food prices rose three-tenths of one per cent, housing and medical care five-tenths of one per cent each, clothing six-tenths of one per cent and transportation eight- tenths of one per cent.

The report said the May rise was less than April because of smaller price hikes for most services and for commodities other than food.

Prices of food and consumer durable goods accelerated from April, it said.

The May report said living costs were 6.2 per cent above a year earlier, continuing the more than 6 per cent annual rate of climb that has prevailed for more than a year.

Smaller Increases

"Charges for consumer serv- ices in May showed their small- est monthly rise since late last year. Price increases for nearly all the important groups of serv- ices were noticeably smaller than in recent months," the bu- reau said.

"Used car prices rose sharply in May, 5.3 per cent, and were largely responsible for the one per cent contraseasonal in- creases for durables. House prices rose more rapidly than in recent months and were almost important in the advance. New car prices declined seasonally," it said.

"Food prices, which usually decline in May, were up," the report said.

"Prices of poultry and eggs fell less than seasonally and

10,000 GIs Still Fighting in Cambodia

WASHINGTON (AP) — Al- though President Nixon has said "the great majority" of U.S. forces would be out of Cambo- dia by now authoritative sources say half the number of American troops sent into that nation are still there.

The President also has prom- ised to have all American troops out by June 30. He repeated the pledge Wednesday in his tele- vised report to the nation on economic conditions.

As of Wednesday, however, the sources said about 10,000 American troops remain in Cambodia "still searching, still sweeping and still removing en- emy supplies" from the jungle sanctuaries along the South Vietnamese border. In his May 8 news conference, Nixon said: "The great major- ity of all American units will be out by the second week of June."

20,000 Men The Defense Department has said the U.S. troop level in Cam- bodia reached 20,000 men soon after the incursion started April 29.

The White House denied this week the President's words about the mid-June target con- stituted a pledge. A spokesman contended the President had merely voiced an expectation based on field reports from Saigon. Since the Cambodian opera- tion began with the announced purpose of cleaning out enemy sanctuaries, the White House and Pentagon have used differ- ent figures on the number of troops involved.

In his June 3 report to the na- tion on the progress of the Cam- bodian operation, Nixon said 31,000 American troops took part and 17,000 had been pulled back across the border into South Vietnam. The Pentagon at the time was using a figure of 20,000.

Different Figures Pentagon spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim sought to clear up this apparent discrepancy by explaining the following day that the 31,000 figure used by the President represented the total number of U.S. troops who had been in Cambodia since the start of the Cambodian incu- sion.

"This 31,000 figure," Fried- heim said, "was Gen. Abrams' figure on how many U.S. per- sonnel had at any time partic- ipated in the Cambodian opera- tion." Gen. Creighton Abrams is the U.S. commander in South Vietnam.

"At no single time had more than 20,000 troops been involved across the border," Friedheim explained.

The Court on Conscientious Objectors

The United States Supreme Court decision that exemption from military duty for conscientious objectors need not be based only upon a religious conviction was almost inevitable after a similar decision in another case in 1965.

In the earlier case, the court held that a conscientious objector met the test of exemption if a "sincere and meaningful belief" as well as a more traditional religious conviction existed. In this week's decision, on a split vote of five to three with the new Justice Blackmun not taking part, the majority held that the particular section involved in the Selective Service Act means it "exempts for military service all those whose consciences, spurred by deeply held moral, ethical or religious convictions, would give them no rest or peace if they allowed themselves to become a part of an instrument of war." This is obviously an interpretation of the law which states men may be exempted from service who "by reason of religious training and belief . . . are conscientiously opposed to participation in war in any form." The difference appears to be the Court's use of the word "or" rather than "and."

But more than quibbling over words, the decision reflects the growing awareness in this country that the opposition of many young men and women to the current war or to war as a form of foreign policy is based not upon cowardice but on deeply held convictions of right and wrong. Some of the opposition may be naive and some is revolutionary but the majority does not seem to be either. It is part of the youth protest against what they see as the hypocrisy of their elders who may proclaim one way of life but live another.

There also is sound backing for the decision in the national tradition of the separation of church and state. By insisting that a traditional religious belief is the only thing that determines a conscientious objector, Congress is making two classes of citizens based entirely upon a religious premise. It was to keep government out of the church and its affairs that the First Amendment to the United States Constitution was enacted. In this particular time in history with the ferment in many organized churches, the questioning of long-time traditions and interpretations of God, Heaven, Hell and an after-life, the decision is most pertinent.

The problem remains, as Selective Service Director Curtis Tarr has pointed out, of determining how sincere in his opposition and beliefs the objector really is. If we can ever get to a purely volunteer military service, that question will no longer be relevant.

Agnew Ignores the Facts

Vice President Spiro Agnew's complaints about what he calls one-sided reporting about the Indochina war sounds somewhat like newspaper critics who claim we never print anything good about youngsters. A survey has almost always found that a great many more inches are allotted to healthy activities of youth, club meetings, hikes, charitable works, participation in church affairs, school matters than are devoted to the mistakes and the deficiencies.

Mr. Agnew complained to the International Federation of Newspaper Publishers that "only one side of the Vietnam war is being told by some of our most influential newspapers and television networks and that, overall, their coverage comes off slanted against American involvement in that war without any attempt at balance." He further said that American atrocities were played up while those committed by the Communists received scant notice.

We do not have an inch or time count on the various stories but we think the Vice President has ignored several angles. First, stories of American atrocities receive more notice from the public because they are so horrifying; we rather expect Communists to act in such deplorable ways. Secondly, when the facts are told up—the dangers of Communist encroachment, the inequity of the Red governments, the history of the people of Southeast Asia, their misery, the destruction, the refugees, the campus unrest, the killing of students, inflation, polarization, draft evaders, urban violence, letting down our allies, the lack of allied support, world public opinion both pro and con—it is getting harder and harder to justify our getting into that war as heavily as we did. It may be that the only conclusion to reach from objective and honest accounts of the last few years is that a dreadful mistake was made.

Naturally we cannot expect Mr. Agnew to acknowledge this—at least until President Nixon manages to extricate us. But we think charges of bias are unfounded. And the United States Government has its own massive ability to put all its actions in a favorable light that can hardly be labeled anything but propaganda paid for by the American taxpayer.

Byrnes Calls the Japanese

The old saying that he who pays the piper calls the tune should be recalled in the recent disclosure by Rep. John W. Byrnes of Green Bay that an organization lobbying against import quotas has close ties with the Japanese government.

Byrnes accused the United States-Japan Trade Council of deception in failing to tell the House Ways and Means Committee that almost all of its money comes from the Japanese government. It is pretty obvious why Japan is against any import quotas. A big part of its burgeoning economy has been a direct result of its sales of goods in the United States.

Taking issue with Byrnes, the director of the trade council said that it is "not a propaganda arm of the Japanese government." At the same time, however, he acknowledged that the council received $340,000 last year from the Japan Trade Promotion Office, which is financed by the Japanese embassy. In addition, the council received $14,000 from members in the United States.

Byrnes had asked that the testimony of the council's director against import quotas be stricken from the hearing record to preserve its integrity, but he was overruled by committee Chairman Wilbur Mills on grounds that any American citizen may testify at Ways and Means hearings, or for that matter any organization incorporated in this country.

The fact still remains that the trades council is being subsidized almost entirely by Japanese interests. They would be less than normal to permit council spokesmen to testify in any way except in Japan's interest as far as import quotas are concerned. We believe Rep. Byrnes was right in protesting the testimony given by the council's representative. It would be a good thing if other congressmen would be as alert in identifying the hidden interests of lobbyists who are not always concerned with the best interests of this country.

A Word Edgewise
Source Material on Freedom
In United States Collected

BY JOHN P. ROCHE

Twenty years ago, when Senator Joe McCarthy was in full cry and many intellectuals were carrying their passports for insurance against a fascist coup, I became interested in the history of civil liberty in the United States. Oddly enough, it was virtually unmapped territory. At any given moment, one could find arguments raging on, say, the rights of aliens, advocates of birth control or anarchists. But there had been no comprehensive effort to chronicle the history of individual and group liberty in America.

In "The Quest for the Dream" (Quadrangle paperbacks), I attempted to remedy this appalling historical neglect. However, whether I was successful or not, my volume was at best an introduction, a preliminary exploration of a tremendous area of American experience. Once the interested student had read it, where could he go next? To a collection of practically inaccessible primary sources, that is, to the Library of Congress, the New York Public Library or half a dozen other great collections.

In effect, what this meant was that the individual who was upset about "repression" in the United States could read my book, and a dozen subsequent volumes on lesser scale, and try to decide whether Roche was correct in arguing that freedom in America was expanding. Or whether my critics were right in announcing the end of American liberty and the triumph of conformity. Independent research was out of the question except for those with access to the big libraries and the time to dig around.

Now I firmly believe in the validity of my historical analysis (if I didn't, I would change my views—as I have on occasion done). But I oppose with equal firmness the principle of salvation by faith when employed in the educational process. To be specific, when I go to talk to a high school class composed of intelligent youngsters who are terribly upset about "repression," I abjure the role of prophet. I don't want them to believe me and relax; I want them to get into the sources and formulate their own conclusions.

This is probably one of the longest windups in the history of column-writing, but sometimes readers will put up with a columnist's hobbies—and one of mine is the value of primary sources in education. My point is that at last, through what seems like a publisher's philanthropic zeal, the major primary sources in the history of American civil liberty have been reprinted. In the course of this year the Da Capo Press will bring out 50 volumes, ranging from the 18th Century over libel laws to the Sacco-Vanzetti case in the 1920's.

They Desire Medals

While I doubt that many individuals will rush to the book stores to order "A Discussion of the Question is the Roman Catholic Religion inimical to Civil or Religious Liberty? . . ." featuring a debate in the 1830's between a leading Protestant clergyman and Father (later Cardinal) John Hughes, this and the other books should be available in public and school libraries.

The series, entitled "Reprints in Civil Liberties in American History," has been put together by the Pulitzer Prize-winning historian Leonard W. Levy, who has long shared my sense of frustration at the difficulty involved in bringing young Americans in direct contact with their past. Levy, with his characteristic (and somewhat unnerving) energy, has set out to remedy this problem. He and the Da Capo Press deserve medals.

It is commonplace to say that in order to know where we are, one must know where we have been. Yet it is a rule Americans habitually disregard. The result? Most analyses of contemporary "American Reality" have a disjointed, vacuum-packed quality about them. When students, example, start talking about intimidation, it is useful to have them read about the "Deportations Delirium of 1919-1920" and the busting of the great steel strike in the same years. Da Capo Press has made this exposure possible. I only hope educators will take advantage of it.

Occasionally, someone who rises in the world may drop his old friends; it is customarily truer that his old friends drop him, since it is psychologically more gratifying to resent from a distance than to envy up close.

There are men so opinionated that they have solutions for which there are no problems.

Being "industrious" for its own sake has always seemed to me a shallow and meaningless moral injunction: no creature is more industrious than the beaver, but he hasn't been able to improve his lot in a million years of hard work.

Wisconsin Report

Donald Peterson Is Enigmatic Candidate
In Primary Election

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Perhaps the most enigmatic personality in the upper ranks of state politics in Wisconsin today is Donald Peterson, the Eau Claire sales manager who is reaching for the top in his first bid for public office.

A comparatively recent arrival in the state, Peterson struck it rich as far as quick to believe is ordained in some sanctified political rule book. When he ridicules from the political platform what he likes to call the meaningless partisan rhetoric of the candidates of more orthodox stance and style, he conveys conviction. He delivers his lines in a flat, steady voice, without oratorical flourishes, without oratorical flourishes, Give Silent Assent

The reporter who is required to spend so many of his working hours listening to the cliché-burdened typical political speech tends to give a wordless assent when Peterson declares that most politicians are talking only to their own kind, that the people are turned away "from both parties that seem capable only of extolling their own virtues or attacking the opposing candidate and his party as the repository of all that is bad."

He is undoubtedly right when he asserts that ordinary people feel less rapport with parties than ever before and that parties as instruments of representative government and political power have less popular participation today than in other times.

But the candidate who makes such candid indictments probably owes it to his hoped for constituency to be more explicit, innovative and enterprising in developing program and proposed policy than those he scorns. There remains plenty of time, but in the weeks since he has made his ambitions known, Candidate Peterson has conveyed nothing of any importance very clearly except that he mourns the Vietnam engagement.

Faces Hard Problems

Even if it is assumed that he wins the high prize in state politics, his duties won't involve foreign policy management. They will embrace the hard, discouraging, sometimes seemingly impossible solutions to the problems of state and local government, multiplying in number and growing in complexity. It is doubtless sufficient for the hard core faithful to say that Wisconsin could resolve many of its worst problems if it could have its pro rata share of the war budget.

But it is a frail reed upon which to lean, even if peace comes. Mr. Peterson may be pacing himself, as the experienced politicians tries to do. But it is also possible that this unusual man is offering little that is concrete — because he has had no actual experience in Wisconsin government.

Wyngaard

identification is concerned when he led the pro-McCarthy majority of the Wisconsin Democratic national convention to Chicago in 1968. He scored more heavily in publicity in what turned out to be a melee than any other Wisconsin personality in like circumstances since the days when the La Follettes brought their insurgency into national Republican conventions many decades earlier.

His cause there was attached to the violent resistance of the McCarthy movement to the Vietnam war. Had the war been "won" in the interim, or otherwise concluded, it is doubtful that he could have found a reasonably encouraging base for his gubernatorial ambitions this year.

Running Is Gamble

But it has not ended. Democrats remain deeply antagonized by the conflict. Many of them will rally to his gubernatorial candidacy on that account, irrelevant as the governor's office may be in a literal sense. While Peterson is not regarded as a favorite for the nomination in the contest with Patrick Lucey, and himself acknowledges that he has a long road to travel to win the nomination, running for office is essentially a gamble.

His gamble is doubtless as justified as some of the others undertaken by Wisconsin politicians this year, including some of those on the Republican side of the political system.

In some respects, Peterson presents a strange contrast to the usual image of the politician and the vote-seeker. His face is solemn. He indulges in none of the back-slapping camaraderie that so many other politicians appear

Study Not Completed
On Public Defender

Editor, The Post-Crescent:

On Sunday, June 14th, a Menasha attorney very strongly stated his personal views on whether or not Outagamie County should establish a public defender post. He continually referred to an article that appeared in The Post-Crescent May 21st. It was surprising to note, that among other things, the attorney couldn't quote correctly from a newspaper article that was obviously in front of his nose. The article stated, "Huseby labeled as 'astonishing' the $75,000 spent, 'not appalled' as was quoted by the attorney in his letter, with a few choice words of his own.

Furthermore, he accused Huseby of being "uninformed" and of "trying to inform." The Courts, Justice and Law Enforcement Committee, of which I am chairman, has instituted a study on indigent attorney fees. The information, that appeared in The Post-Crescent article under fire, was taken from a written report submitted to our committee by Alvin Woehler, County Administrator. As of this date, our committee has not sought to inform you, Mr. Menasha Attorney, or the residents of Outagamie County, as our study has not yet been completed. When it is, we will most certainly do our best to inform.

There seemed to be some fear, on the attorney's part, that the "poverty-stricken" would have their rights tampered with by the establishing of a public defender post. This fear is totally unwarranted!

Everyone is entitled to legal representation in our courts, and they will get it. However, it is our job to establish the fairest method of representation, not only for the indigent defendant, but also for the taxpayer, who willingly carries this burden.

There also seemed to be some confusion in the attorney's mind as to the duties of the Courts, Justice and Law Enforcement Committee. Perhaps Mr. Richard J. Steffens had our committee confused with Social Services and Welfare. Social Service and Welfare are out of our jurisdiction, but I fail to see the comparison made by Mr. Steffens. He insinuated that if a public defender is hired, why not hire public doctors and dentists. What has one to do with the other? How can you compare the defense of a murderer with the transfusion of life-giving blood? However, if he is concerned with future possible injustices in the Welfare and Social Service Department, I suggest he go directly to the committee and air his views.

Everyone is entitled to financial assistance when they are truly "poverty stricken," but it is also the obligation of every public official to seek and maintain a fair balance. He is duty-bound to the taxpayer, as well as the underprivileged. He must study every existing problem and seek a solution to that problem for the good of all. That is what our committee is attempting to do in regard to the indigent defendant.

County Drug Squad Gets Push by Long

Outagamie DA Calls Problem Severe

BY PETER BACH

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Immediate steps to create a three-man squad "to work on nothing but drugs on a county-wide basis" were urged Wednesday night by Dist. Atty. James R. Long.

"We have an obligation to cut down the supply of illegal drugs," Long told the Outagamie County Board's Courts and Justice Committee.

Long called the problem severe enough right now so that "every school which has students over the fifth grade in the county" is experiencing serious difficulties with drug abuse.

The investigative narcotics team would work out of his office, Long said, and would have to be "well trained, sharp people," requiring a yearly salary of $10,000 to $12,000.

Three drug-related arrests have been made so far this year, Long cited, but existing jurisdictions are "overworked" and impeded due to shift work.

Funding such a program, which would be experimental for three years, he said, probably is the immediate task faced by the county. Federal funds may be available, however, Long said, referring to his recent consultation with an official of the Wisconsin Council on Criminal Justice who said "this is the kind of thing we like to put the money into."

Long said he would like to see the proposal come before the County Board no later than the July meeting, and that by August the question of funding the program could be settled. He plans to confer with a law enforcement member of the Fox Valley Council of Governments, he said.

"I would hope the board members themselves would go and make a survey of the problem," Long said, noting that in his experience drug users are willing to speak of their contacts.

Screening applicants for the narcotics squad could be done through a board composed of three or four persons, he said.

"Now, a case gets blown when too many people work on it," he said.

In other action Wednesday night, reports from Corp. Coun- sel Frank Templeton and Clerk of Courts Gloria Johnson were filed with the committee.

Templeton, who has been sur- veying several counties to de- termine their answers to the sticky legal question of public defender, cited as perhaps most successful Dane County's pro- gram which goes beyond what one would normally expect from a single attorney for a county's indigent defendants. Termed the Legal Services Center of Dane County, a staff of six provides about 50 per cent of the attorneys to represent indigents.

The program includes a "brief bank," comprising recent Su- preme Court rulings and other materials designed to aid pri- vate attorneys who perhaps once in six months have to tackle a touchy criminal case.

The committee will attempt to contact officials from the State Bar Association to discuss legal- ities surrounding the question, according to Supv. Paul Huseby, chairman.

Miss Johnson showed that in 1969 her office sent out over $1.2 million in support payments received from men who pay their estranged wives in the county.

The volume of work, up to 90 checks per day, is handled by one girl, she noted. The difficul- ty of computing arrearages is complicated by such unknown factors as minor children turn- ing 18, remarrying and illness or unemployment of the payer, she said.

Disease Threatens Courthouse Square

Waupaca is Losing Its Stately Elms

WAUPACA — Dutch Elm disease has killed two of the 22 elm trees in Courthouse Square and threatens those remaining.

It was the main topic of conversation among those who stop to rest for a moment or two in the shade of the 75-foot giants which have for many years offered respite from the summer sun to both residents and tourists.

Last Saturday chain saws took down the first two elms and courthouse employees com- ing to work on Monday "knew something was missing." They quickly learned that two more are going and that "all may be gone within the next few years."

Dutch Elm disease was evi- dent in a few of the trees last year when they were checked by Hugh Hayes, forester. It was recommended at that time that dead wood be pruned out and the trees carefully watched.

Emergency treatment with chemicals is not recommended, Hayes said, unless eradication is certain. The city, which has many of its residential streets bordered by elms never has had a treatment program, nor need- ed one.

Hayes did advise the Waupaca County Property Committee that Dutch Elm was present, that the trees should be careful- ly watched and that at any sign of wilting, the trees should be removed.

"These trees have a com- munity root system and there survival is highly unlikely," Hayes said today. "This year has been unusually 'attractive' for the rapid development of Dutch Elm. With all of the rain this spring and the unusual high temperatures, the disease spread rapidly the length of the trees.

Replacement Plans

He recommends that a tree replacement planting begin on "the square without delay. Wal- ter Cura, chairman of the county's Property Committee, has called a meeting to consider the planting program.

"I've watched a few of my own elm wilt and die with the disease and I know that the forester is absolutely correct about the progress of this disease," Cura observed. "I tried trimming out the dead branches, but it would have been better had I followed the advice given me and cut down the diseased tree. I might have saved the healthy ones."

Hayes has suggested that the tree planting program include hackberry, Norway maple and little leaf linden.

"Hackberry gives good shade and is smog and fume resis- tant," Hayes elaborated. "Nor- way maple is a little more sensitive to air pollution, but it has beauty and gives good shade."

"I am suggesting that these species be planted as large as practical and as soon as possi- ble. The elm could go rapidly."

Asked what residents could do to protect their elm, Hayes advised, "Watch for the wilting leaf and as soon as you detect it — have the tree cut down. This is the best way to protect your healthy elm."

Under terms of the proposal, NCR would issue 430,000 shares of a new class of convertible preferred stock paying an annu- al dividend of $1.25 per share.

The stock would be convertible into NCR common on a 1 for 1 basis at any time before re- demption and would be non- callable for 10 years. It would have the same voting rights as NCR common.

The proposal also includes a provision under which NCR might issue additional NCR convertible preferred shares to Appleton Coated stockhold- ers—not to exceed 30,000 at the annual meeting of the shares depending upon the Combined Paper Mills stock- average market value of NCR holders a year ago this month.

Engineers Report

Weyauwega Faces Future Water Need

WEYAUWEGA — Herbert completed installation of a pre- Foth and Joseph Homel, engi- neers with Foth and Porath, Green Bay, appeared before the City Council Monday evening to discuss the city's possible need for more water in the near future.

Prior to the meeting the engineers had checked both city wells and had suggested a central control system to op- erate them. The system would allow more even pumping from each well and keep a maximum supply of water on hand at all times, especially during the summer months.

They also recommended open- ing the well at pump house No. 2 to greater pumping capacity per minute. In addition, pro- cedures to improve operation of the disposal plant were explain- ed. Such operation must be delayed, however, until the Wolf River Sausage Company has

Marion Band Practice

MARION — The first summer band rehearsal will be conducted at 7:30 p.m. today in the band room at the high school, accord- ing to Larry Schuster, director.

The Elm Trees in Courthouse Square at Waupaca have been stricken with Dutch Elm disease. Two have been removed and two more are scheduled to be cut down. It is possible that in a few years all the Elms in the square will be gone. The County Board's Property Committee will consider a replacement program within the next two weeks. (Post-Crescent Photo)

$975,000 Bond Issue Ok'd By New London Council

NEW LONDON — The City Council has approved the sale of that this is not a favorable time; the city may have to pay from $975,000 in general obligation for circulating the bonds, but 6 1/2 to 6 3/4 per cent interest on the bonds. Council members had consultants advised the sale in order to get the work done while construction costs were

The funds from the bonds will cover four initial resolutions in the following amounts: $180,000 for constructing sanitary sewers on the northside; $510,000 for storm sewers; $100,000 for street improvements, and $185,000 for construction of a safety building.

Construction Costs

It was the consensus of opin- ion that the rising cost of construction could easily out- weigh any future savings in interest payment.

Home Town Day Planned In Waupaca

City Prepares Annual Celebration On 4th of July

WAUPACA — The city is completing plans for its second Home Town Day, called "Wau- paca's way of keeping its own folk off the busy highways and as safe as possible this coming 4th of July weekend."

The celebration will be in South Park. The City Council acted this week to rescind the parking fees for that day, but because of limited space and the anticipated crowd, it has been suggested that as many as can walk to the park.

The Waupaca Lions will serve their Chick Barb-B-Que, begin- ning at 11 a.m. "There will be chickens on the fire from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m.," assures Maurice Frieburger, Lion president. This year's barbecue will be in the new "shack" which the club donated to the city.

The Jaycees will serve re- freshments from 1 to 9 p.m. and fill the day with games and prizes. The grand prize winner will be announced at 8 p.m.

During the day the Waupaca City Band will play and the local Barbshoppers will enter- tain.

Fireworks are scheduled for about 9 p.m., sponsored by the Waupaca Auxiliary Police.

Officers Re-elected on Parish School Board

STOCKBRIDGE — All offi- cers of the Board of Education at St. Mary Catholic Church have been re-elected for a one-year term.

They are James Engel, presi- dent, Willard Hemauer, vice president, Mrs. Donald Brill, secretary, and Mrs. Paul Eck- er, treasurer.

Officials Brace for Rock Festival

BY BILL KNUFSON

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

STEVENS POINT — Law enforcement officials in Port- age and Waupaca counties are stepping up plans to control a rock festival scheduled for the weekend of June 26-28.

"We've resigned ourselves to the fact there is going to be a rock festival," Portage County Sheriff Nick Check said today. Although "a num- ber of meetings have been held in the past weeks," at- tempts to halt the event have been unsuccessful, Check said.

Larry Schumann, festival producer, announced at a Madison news conference Wednesday that the event would be held on a 200-acre farm lying in the towns of Iola in Waupaca County and Newhope in Portage County.

Check said the farm site is near Portage County Trunk MM, about seven miles north- west of Iola.

It was learned today that the farm, once owned by Roy Rustad, was sold for $20,000 this week to James R. Sifton of Madison. The land then was leased to sponsors of the festival. Check said the farm has a barn but no living quarters.

Plans for the festival "ori- ginated right here in Stevens Point," Check explained.

He said that he and Wau- paca County Sheriff Loran Frazier visited the festival site Wednesday. "Where the thing is held is immaterial as long as it is some reasonable area as far as traffic is concerned," Check said.

Asked if the farm site were a "reasonable area," Check replied that it was "as good as could be expected."

There will always be com- plaints from neighbors," he added. Check said that al- though he was aware several months ago that a rock festi- val might be held in the area, he was not told of the site choice until Wednesday.

Frazier reportedly was working on an investigation and was not available for comment this morning.

Schumann said that en- trance to the festival will be through the 50 acres of farm land lying in the Town of Newhope, while entertainment will be on the 150 acres on the Waupaca County side.

The reason for the separa- tion, Schumann, said, is that the Portage County land is zoned for agriculture, while the Waupaca County portion is not zoned. Schumann would not reveal the name of the farm owner.

He said that the festival sponsor's attorney would meet with Check and Frazier today, but Check said he had re- ceived no request for such a meeting.

"We intend to control" the event, Check said. "We made this plan long ago." Although stating that law enforcement help would be summoned from outside the two counties, Check declined to say what form the assistance would take or how much help would be asked.

Check also declined to specu- late on how many people the festival would attract, al- though Schumann said the tickets sales were "going very well" and "at least 20,000" participants were expected. He said that most of those who bought tickets so far are from Milwaukee.

Such performers as Ruffy St. Marie, Johnny Winter, Buddy Rich, Ravi Shankar and Paul Butterfield, along with several local groups, are scheduled to appear during the three days.

Entertainment will not be continuous and the festival will have a carnival atmos- phere, with Indian dances and rides, Schumann said.

A rock festival held in April on the Irene York farm drew an estimated 20,000 people on the final day. Mrs. York, an elderly widow, was charged with several zoning violations.

A festival which had been planned for the Shoclen area in Outagamie County last month was canceled after county officials found that sewage facilities at the site were inadequate.

The man on whose land the festival was to have been held said, however, that the event was canceled because things "got out of hand." Outagamie County Sheriff Calvin Spivey and members of the Town of Liberty Board had regis- tered strong objections to the festival plans.

3 Delegates From Clintonville Church To Attend Sessions

CLINTONVILLE — The Rev. Mrs. Arthur J. Snow, minister of Christ Congregational church, and two lay delegates will attend the annual meeting of the Wisconsin Conference of the United Church of Christ at Lawrence University, Appleton, Friday through Sunday.

The theme for the state session is "The Good News For the Now." Featured speakers include the Rev. Ralph Ley, D.D., president of the Conference, who will speak on "The State of the Conference"; the Rev. Gabriel Fackre, Ph.D., professor at Lancaster Seminary; "The Church in the Seventies;" and the Rev. Frederick Kirkpatrick, world-famous black folk singer, who will lead an evening "experience."

Conference officers will be elected, commission reports will be presented, and the budget for 1971 adopted. A weekend meeting is being held this year for the first time so that lay people can take advantage of the opportunity to learn more about the wider Christian fellowship. Those who can be present for any part of the session are encouraged to go.

Brillion Lime Kilns

Artist Preserves Landmark

BY JOAN COENEN
Post-Crescent Correspondent

BRILLION — A century-old landmark that will soon be leveled to eliminate an "eyesore" and safely hazard, is being preserved in a mural by the Rev. Edward Johnson, pastor of Faith United Methodist Church.

When Merlin Wieting, local funeral director, learned of Johnson's artistic adeptness, he called on the young minister to paint a mural on a lounge wall in the new funeral home.

The two men considered several scenes and finally chose the lime kilns on the city's northeast side because of its historical and local interest.

Johnson used latex paint for the 12 by 7½ foot mural which pictures an engine house with sagging roof perched atop wooden stilts, the seven state-lime kilns and a dilapidated lime building that was used for storage.

Fires in the kiln furnaces were fueled with logs hauled by horses. The engines powered the carts on tracks which hauled the stones to the blazing-hot kilns and the subsequent lime to the storage building.

A picturesque park and pond bordered the west side of the property. Johnson has captured the beauty of the pond and some of that original foliage in the mural by eliminating the homes and fuel gas tanks which are there now.

A 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. open house Friday and Saturday, June 26 and 27, will give visitors a chance to view the painting. One of Brillion's elderly citizens will be on hand to explain the lime kiln operation that ceased during World War II because of a lack of labor and less need for lime.

Ironically the mural was completed just prior to a planned leveling of the kilns and nearby buildings by order of the City Council. The city building inspector, fire chief, health officer and members of the city Health and Welfare Committee have dubbed the abandoned area, owned by Western Lime and Cement Co., Milwaukee, as an "eyesore" and a safety hazard

Cadillac

STANDARD OF THE WORLD

The choice you'll want to make...sooner or later.

In times when so many new car buyers are concerned about value, it is particularly interesting to note how many thousands of those buyers are deciding in favor of Cadillac. There is much to support the wisdom of their choice.

There is first, the lasting value of Cadillac beauty and elegance that has made the 1970 Cadillac the best-liked of all Cadillacs.

There is also the silent assurance of Cadillac performance. Nothing more clearly characterizes this than the superb Fleetwood Eldorado, the world's finest personal car. With its 8.2 litre (500-cubic-inch) V-8, largest of any American production engine, the Eldorado delivers outstanding responsiveness.

Right now, you'll find a wide selection of beautifully crafted Cadillacs at your authorized dealer's. And you'll find, further, that most are equipped with such incomparable Cadillac conveniences as Automatic Climate Control, Cruise Control and Cadillac's Tilt and Telescope steering wheel. No other fine car permits such freedom of individual expression.

Is it any wonder that the 1970 Cadillac should prove to be the most attractive fine car purchase of all? Or that Cadillac's reputation at trade-in time is just as solid today as it has been in years past?

Let your authorized dealer show you why, sooner or later, you'll want to choose motoring's true value leader.

Commission Rejects Plan For Goodland

Amidst painful recollections of past hassles over using Goodland Field for something other than baseball, the Park and Recreation Commission has rejected a proposal to place a new City Hall and a city-county courts and safety building there.

The commission Tuesday became the first of several public bodies to take action on the proposal by Ald. Thomas Mulvihill (14th) to put the public buildings on the field and for the county to put up a stadium, Neilson to the board, to replace Farm site.

The Plans Commission and the City Council's Public Safety Committee put off action on the proposal earlier, waiting for another body to act first.

Compromise Attempt

Mulvihill submitted his proposal in an apparent attempt to offer a compromise to unseat the city-county safety building

Commission Chairman Ralph Gertsch recalled that past proposals to dispose of the ballpark have aroused strident opposition.

Commissioner Arthur Jones said it would take years to replace Goodland Field with another minor league field, and he predicted that if Mulvihill's proposal were taken seriously it could well prompt the Chicago White Sox to look elsewhere for headquarters their Appleton Foxes farm club.

In other business, commissioners adopted a list of 13 permanent ice skating rinks and approved installing water service to replace fire hydrants for flooding them.

The locations are at Jones Arboretus, Erb, Linwood, Memorial, Mead and Pierce parks, and at schools or school sites including Highlands, Lincoln, Old McKinley, New McKinley, Huntley and Colony Oaks.

The School Board has agreed to finance water risers at the schools and the commission voted to put in a riser at Pierce Park. Other parks already are equipped with risers or need minor work.

Old McKinley School is the only one the School Board has not agreed to equip, and the commission left that site open for negotiations. New installations will cost $200 each, according to the Water Department.

The commission also plans to have department heads explore a School Board offer to use Old McKinley as storage space for park and recreation equipment in the off-season

State to Pick Up Tab for More Municipal Spending in Future

NEENAH — Future state legislatures will be asked to finance a greater share of local government costs, particularly in counties like Winnebago where citizens pay more state taxes than are returned to local municipalities, a tax researcher said here Wednesday.

John P. Reynolds, of the Wisconsin Taxpayers Alliance, spoke to the Neenah Kiwanis Club, reviewing tax trends in the 1960's and making predictions for the new decade.

Pay More

Reynolds cited Alliance figures showing that Winnebago County taxpayers pay $1.27 in state taxes, county and the local government units within it. State aid to those, local government units was $15.4 million in 1969, and county schools got another $3 million.

Eighteen other counties besides Winnebago — all but one in the urbanized southeast or Fox Valley part of the state — receive less state aids than they pay, a consideration which led to the Tarr Task Force proposals for changes in the state-local revenue sharing formulas. Those proposals were defeated in the last session of the legislature.

Town Government

Reynolds predicted town government was on its way out as full-time basis when Judge Nick Schaefer, center, attends a conference in Nevada. Keller also might work part time afterward. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Supreme Court Ruling Draft Effect Doubted

The U.S. Supreme Court's ruling this week subtly broadening the definition of conscientious objector should not substantially affect the Outagamie County Draft Board, according to Wendall H. Smith, its chairman.

Smith said requests for deferment as conscientious objectors have been stepped up in the past several months, coinciding with the activities of local draft resistance efforts led by a group

The new ruling stems from the 1965 United States vs. Seeger case in which the court ruled a man could be classed as a conscientious objector on a basis of overriding principles similar to a religious belief, but did not have to stem from a traditional religion or belief in a god.

"It is hard for me in reading the news releases to see how it (the new ruling) differs from the Supreme Court Seeger Case," Smith said.

National Draft Director Curtis W. Tarr Tuesday issued a preliminary interpretation of the new ruling's meaning for local boards.

Based on Tarr's statements, Smith commented, "In my judgment we have been judging conscientious objector claims substantially in accordance with

Vote of Confidence Concerts in Waupaca To Stay on Fridays

WAUPACA — City Band Director Ted Schnese received a vote of confidence Tuesday night from the City Council, as a result there will be 10 Friday night band concerts this summer in Courthouse Square beginning June 26.

Schnese came to the council to speak out for continuing the concerts, which he termed "a tremendous tradition."

He expressed frustration at rumors that the concerts might be changed to another night, or transferred to South Park, and pledged his intention of putting the concerts together for this summer "if that is the council's wish."

Concern of Chamber

Earlier, this month, the Chamber of Commerce had met with the council to discuss the possibility of changing the concerts from Friday nights to another night in the week. Members of the Chamber felt that business in the stores on Fridays was poor. While there have been many people in town on Fridays, they were not shopping, the spokesmen reported.

The council had left the matter open for discussion between the members of the Chamber and the band director.

The city provides $1,600 each summer for the concerts. Schnese explained the use of this money and said he was left with $250 for himself, after paying the musicians he needs for concert and rehearsal nights.

The Mayor Edward Kramer assured Schnese that one of the last things the city wants is to get rid of the concerts.

Delay in Firing Allen Shows Nixon Troubles

Critic of Vietnam, Cambodian Operation Released Only After Eruptions Quelled

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — The 21 days needed by President Nixon to fire Dr. James E. Allen Jr. after he publicly denounced the Cambodian operation comprise a fair measure of the internal crisis in the Nixon Administration.

The plain fact, admitted privately by high officials, is that the White House did not feel strong enough to get rid of Allen until three weeks had passed. With the furries descending upon

Evans Novak

Nixon in the wake of Cambodia and Kent State, his inner circle did not want to risk still more abuse from the liberal media and intellectuals.

Moreover, when Allen finally was sacked June 10 as the administration's chief education officer, the White House was still so insecure that it tried to disconnect the firing from Cambodia. That was less than reassuring to loyal officials who had backed Nixon's Cambodian move and were shocked at Allen's apostasy.

The Allen affair, then, is an important case study of what ails the Nixon Administration: a lack of self-confidence contributing to division at high official levels, widespread demoralization among Nixon loyalists and a rebellious bureaucracy.

Actually, nobody was more surprised than Allen that he was not bounced immediately on May 21 from his dual job as U.S. commissioner of education and assistant secretary of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) for education. On that day, he told 400 cheering education civil servants that he opposed the Cambodian operation and the Vietnam war as well.

Cambodia Unmentioned
That same day Allen was summoned to the White House for a session with presidential aides. To his surprise, the discussion concerned only education. Cambodia was not mentioned. In fact, no administration official said a word about Cambodia to Allen until June 10 when Robert Finch, finishing up as secretary of HEW, fired him under White House orders.

In the interim, administration officials lamely argued that Allen could oppose Vietnam policy because his official duties did not touch foreign affairs, a claim running counter to established Anglo-American practice. Such reasoning would have stopped President Harry S. Truman from dismissing Commerce Secretary Henry Wallace for pro-Soviet views.

In truth, the White House was hoping pressure from Allen's antiwar peers in the educational community would force him to

Early-Out Cheating Angers Army

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army says some servicemen, let out of uniform early to go to college, are cheating on the privilege and failing to enroll. The service is so mad it is threatening to recall the culprits and possibly court-martial them.

As part of its effort to encourage more veterans to take advantage of GI schooling benefits—and ease pressure on the tightening labor market—the Nixon administration has expanded the 10-year-old program allowing a head start of up to 90 days for college-bound veterans to include vocational and technical schools.

In cases where substantial evidence of fraudulent intent exists, commanders were instructed to send fully documented details to Army headquarters in the Pentagon.

Several possible actions were listed:

—Revocation of discharge or release from service.

The man would then be returned to active duty, the Army said, and would be liable to disciplinary action which "could include courts martial for fraudulent separation" from service.

—Referral of the case to the Justice Department for possible prosecution in the civilian courts.

For those in a reserve status "elimination for misconduct."

Mattingly Gets Marriage License

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Astronaut Thomas K. Mattingly, who was bumped from the Apollo 13 moon flight because of exposure to measles, has taken out a marriage license here with a California woman.

Courthouse records listed the astronaut's intended bride only as Elizabeth Bailey of California.

Mattingly, 34, on two weeks' leave from the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston, let few people know of his marriage plans.

Mattingly, a graduate of Auburn University, joined the astronaut corps in 1966 after six years as a naval aviator.

Class Gift Is for Bird Sanctuary

LARKSPUR, Calif. (AP) — Graduating seniors of Redwood High School decided to spend the class treasury helping to buy an island bird sanctuary.

Outgoing classes traditionally have donated something to the school, such as a fountain or a plaque.

"We didn't want to make the usual stereotyped gift," says Joseph Enzensperger, president of the 570-member class of '70.

So Thursday night he handed a $2,000 check, representing proceeds from class dues, bake sales and car-washing, to Douglas Ferguson, county chairman of the nationwide Nature Conservancy project, a private foundation.

Utility Tax Redistribution Given Push

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — A power company spokesman says Wisconsin needs a redistribution of shared utility taxes.

But care must be taken to insure that the redistribution is not so complete that municipalities no longer will be interested in having utilities located within their boundaries, says Thomas Finance

Consigny of Wisconsin Power and Light Co.

The existing formula, target of urban leaders pushing for solutions from the state of local financial burdens, needs repair to grips with the matter. The committee, which is to report possible solutions to the Legislature's Joint Committee on shared tax problems facing state and local governments to Consigny appeared before the legislative committee handed the task of studying tax redistribution by the 1969 Legislature, which was unable to come to grips with the matter.

The committee, which is to report possible solutions to the Legislature's Joint Committee on shared tax problems facing state and local governments to the 1971 Legislature, took a look at Tarr Task Force recommendations on the utility tax, and drew Consigny's comments in response.

The Tarr Task Force recommendations touching on redistribution were voted down or shelved by the 1969 session.

Utility taxes essentially are shared between the municipalities containing a utility plant and the state, with the major portion of the taxes — levied in place of property taxes — going to the locality.

Therefore, communities housing utilities can receive sizable tax shares, while nearby localities — and all the rest of those in the state — receive nothing from the tax levies.

A favorite target of critics has been the Town of Two Creeks in Manitowoc County. At present, only two localities in the state would exceed that 2 per cent limit, based on current shared tax receipts, Hollander said he had been informed by the State Department of Revenue.

The finance unit toured the plant before considering utility tax redistribution possibilities at its statehouse session.

Consigny said that localities must have some incentive — higher aids — to allow utilities to locate within them. The aids must cover the extra costs borne by a local unit of government providing services to a massive utility, he said.

"There must be some incentive," said Consigny. "Maybe it should not be as large as it is now, but there must be some incentive for communities to have new plant locations in future years."

"Electrical needs are going to go up . . . It might now be too great an incentive. It is now. I can say for my company . . . But there must be an incentive. You can't skin it too close," he warned the committee.

Committee co-chairman Sen. Walter Hollander, R-Rosendale, suggested that in future meetings the committee consider returning to a type of tax sharing formula used before 1959 in the state.

Wisconsin might consider pooling income tax collections and most utility tax receipts into a general tax pot, and allowing all localities in the state to share in that fund to a level set by a formula for an upper limit, suggested Hollander.

That limit might be set at 2 per cent of the assessed valuation of a community, he suggested. No community could receive more than it had in the past, once such a plan started, unless its valuation grew.

At present, only two localities in the state would exceed that 2 per cent limit, based on current shared tax receipts, Hollander said he had been informed by the State Department of Revenue.

They are the Village of Camanche in Jefferson County and the City of Eau Claire.

Committee members took a potshot as well at state tax treatment of electrical cooperatives, which pay no set tax in place of local property taxes. Instead they pay a percentage of their gross business, but investor-owned utilities pay corporate income taxes as well and contend they are overtaxed in comparison to the cooperatives.

Hollander suggested that the committee consider revising tax schemes applying to both forms of utilities.

Democratic State Rep. George Molinaro, Kenosha, agreed but said the private utility question should be solved first, and the cooperatives taxed in response. "Every time you talk about cooperatives you are talking about motherhood, and every

Outside Consultant Rejected For Study of Court Reform

MADISON (AP)—The lawyer-dominated Interim Judiciary Committee of the legislature turned down 9-1 Wednesday a proposal to hire an outside consultant to recommend changes in Wisconsin's court system.

The proposal came from an advisory committee—dominated by laymen.

"What all the lawyers and judges in Wisconsin have failed to do won't be accomplished by an outside consultant," said Sen. Allen Busby, R-West Allis, who voted against the proposal.

Rep. Norman Anderson, D-Madison, favored it.

The advisory committee's proposal, supported by members of the Wisconsin Supreme Court, and the court administrator's office, was to spend about $60,000 for a study and recommendations by the Institute of Judicial Administration, New York City.

One change sought by the high court has been a single level trial court system, with an intermediate appellate court between it and the Supreme Court. Another possible change is in the method of naming judges—who now are elected.

The legislature knows what the issues are and what action should be taken, said Rep. James Sensenbrenner, R-Shorewood, who added that he doesn't know how to make the changes.

Anderson said lawyers know those answers—but are reluctant to put them into law because they have to practice before the judges the law would affect.

"We all have the feeling we could write a court reorganization," he said. "The institute time you talk about private enterprise you are talking about sin," he warned the committee. "Maybe we've got to get the two together and tell them that neither one is going to heaven," he suggested.

Circumvent Critics

Some Safeguard Funds Cut To Protect Bulk of Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The part of a $20.2 billion Pentagon Senate Armed Services Committee has voted to limit expansion of the Safeguard missile defense system in a bid to outflank critics who want the program pruned far more drastically.

The committee's Wednesday action to cut funds for four Safeguard bases marked the first program. It came after Safeguard critics—who came within one vote in 1969 of killing the entire program—indicated they would try for stringent restrictions.

"I think this action will make it easier to get Senate approval," committee Chairman John D. Stennis said afterwards. "I think it will strengthen the passage of the Safeguard program."

The four bases were described by administration officials as essential to the area defense plan designed to thwart a possible rocket attack by mainland China.

The Safeguard package was against ABM deployment last year—to drop the four area defense sites in northeastern and northwestern United States, the Michigan-Ohio area and near Washington, D.C.

Safeguard opponents said the Canon amendment takes only about $32 million from the $1.33 billion ABM section of the bill, while the Brooke proposal would have slashed at least $313 million.

Brooke said he wasn't sure the Cannon amendment would win Senate approval in spite of statements by Stennis and others.

"Cannon is closer to supporting ABM. Mine was an extreme position to the other side," he explained.

Although rejecting funds for four Safeguard projects, the committee accepted the administration's request for $178 million to begin Safeguard site procurement for Whiteman Air Force Base near Kansas City and $95.2 million to begin construction there.

The Whiteman installation is to be part of a complex defense launching pads of U.S. intercontinental offensive missiles.

Administration Avoids Test of Segregation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department has backed away—at least temporarily—from a crucial test of the Nixon administration's determination to push for near total school desegregation in the South by this fall.

Faced with more than a score of segregated Mississippi districts that have so far resisted from a crucial test of the Nixon administration's determination to push for near total school desegregation in the South by this fall.

Ass' Atty Gen Jernis Leonard, chief of the department's civil rights division, acknowledged Wednesday he is giving predicted more than 90 per cent the holdout Mississippi districts of black children in the South more time to come around before filing a threatened statewide desegregation suit.

District Officials "Things are looking good," Leonard said of efforts by a special Nixon administration negotiator on team that spent Monday and Tuesday in Jackson, Miss., talking to school district officials.

The confidence in Mississippi officials marks an apparent change of heart by Leonard, who last week seemed determined to press ahead with the second statewide suit ever filed by the government if 15 or more Mississippi districts still resisted by the end of the negotiating session.

"The arbitrary figure is 15," Leonard said in an interview last week. "If it is less, we can handle them on an individual basis; if it is more, we will probably have to bring a statewide suit."

Sources in the Justice Department and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, both present at the closed door

Voluntary Integration Mitchell feels the sources said, "the administration's best course is to push for voluntary desegregation through a Cabinet panel, headed by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew."

The attorney general told reporters recently the Cabinet committee had experienced "measurable success" in talking recalcitrant districts into voluntary action.

Justice and HEW sources have said the committee's brand of persuasion has been especially effective in North and South Carolina, Florida and Arkansas, which—along with Mississippi—had been mentioned by Leonard earlier this year as potential targets for statewide suits.

The first statewide desegregation suit was filed more than a year ago against Georgia. Since then all but a few school districts in that state have submitted acceptable plans for desegregating this fall.

Nixon Named Churchman of the Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon was named "Churchman of the Year" today for instituting Sunday worship services at the White House, a practice that has not always drawn praise.

In a prepared statement announcing the selection of the President, Religious Heritage of America Inc. hailed Nixon for "creating an atmosphere in which we in America can return to spiritual renaissance."

The organization, headed by long-time Nixon friend W. Clement Stone of Chicago, is a non-profit group dedicated to preserving Judeo-Christian ideas. It honored Dwight D. Eisenhower with the same award when he was president.

Money, Race, Drugs Woes of All Big Cities

By MICHAEL J. SNIFFEN Associated Press Writer

DENVER (AP) — Whatever the political affiliation, no matter where they come from, most American mayors of large cities recite a similar litany of woes: unemployment, a growing narcotics problem, race relations and not enough money to better the quality of life in their communities.

The only differences a listener hears while attending the U.S. Conference of Mayors meeting here are opinions on how best to solve their problems.

For instance, 10 mayors were asked the following question: "What is the most serious problem facing your city today and how can it best be solved?"

Here are their answers.

Carl B. Stokes of Cleveland (Democrat): "Unemployment. Obviously I'd like to see a healthy economy which would be able to absorb people in a natural way in finding jobs. In the absence of this being done, I feel there is a responsibility on the government to furnish jobs. There have to be massive public works programs at this time."

Full Employment

Richard C. Lugar of Indianapolis (Republican): "Maintenance of full employment is our basic problem—more so now when the problem is national in scope. If we can reach full employment we will have mobility, people able to afford private housing, and less need for public support. To the extent we do not have full employment, we will have many more problems."

"Our prime solution is to seek new industry for Indianapolis. We have had help from federal programs, but realistically, there could come a day when we're not so politically favored in Washington and we better have the ability to maintain it on our own."

Seattle Problems

Wesley Uhlman of Seattle (Democrat): "Our single biggest problem is unemployment, without question. Unemployment in our metropolitan area is 10 per cent and half again as high in the core. Our economy revolves around the Boeing Company and its employment has gone down from 102,000 last year to 42,000 they tell us by the end of this year."

"It is absolutely necessary to constructively criticize the (Nixon) administration—hopefully, into changing the policy that in order to control inflation we have to have some unemployment. I don't agree that it's a healthy thing to have 5 million people unemployed."

Narcotics in New York

John V. Lindsay of New York: "Right now the problem most pressing on us is narcotics. It's immediate, it's big, it's largely unsolved. We're experimenting but it's a very complicated and very big headache for us—and a very dangerous thing, too."

"A solution has to be both in law enforcement and in rehabilitation."

Lindsay, a registered Republican, ran and won on the Liberal party ticket.

Sam Massell of Atlanta (Democrat): "We have two big problems: money and human relations, equally. With enough money I could solve or improve all our troubles except those in human rights. The human rights problem is a little different today from the civil rights problems of yesterday. It extends to the hippies and the campus."

"I don't think we have said enough to the state government about financing. That's where we should go for money. The other problem has to be solved by generating compassion, and understanding and a firm protection of rights."

Peter Flaherty of Pittsburgh (Democrat): "The most pressing problem is financial survival of city government. If the city government is unable to survive and goes bankrupt, then the great problems of social and physical and cultural goals disappear with it."

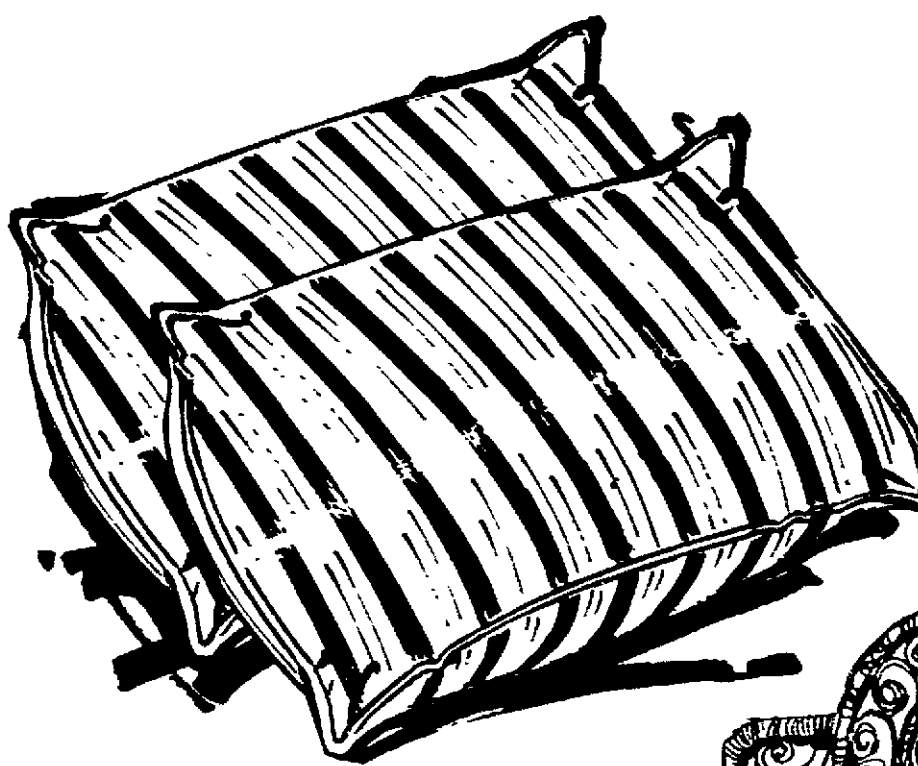

Henry Maier of Milwaukee (Democrat): "The biggest single problem in our city is a lack of resources similar to that in fight the states—particularly any 'have-not' country. We are the 'have' areas sitting high on the 'have-nots.' The property tax is our main source of revenue and it's stretched to function should continue to try to get parks, recreations, police and functional priorities realigned as there is no additional flexibility in the tax base."

It was set up for fire, sewer and well."

In Milwaukee now, our property tax supports about $31 million in antipoverty-type programs. San Diego we hit the tax limit without going through the first time in the history of from the federal government thing we need now more than ever is ability to annex unincorporated land."

"We've got to continue to fight this year and had to trim state."

Student Loan Program Now Before Congress

BY SYLVIA PORTER

We're now into the peak hunting season for guaranteed student loans. June-July is when the vast majority of college students and their parents are shopping among banks, savings institutions and other lenders for commitments to finance the fall semester in colleges, business, trade, technical and vocational schools.

Under the federal-state guaranteed loan program 2,500,000 loans totaling $2 1/4 billion have been made since fiscal '66. In fiscal '70 alone, an estimated $840 million will have been loaned, the highest to date. Involved have been close to 20,000 lenders and students attending 7,000 educational institutions. It has been and it is a magnificent program designed especially to help the oft-forgotten middle-grade student from the middle-income family.

Banks Cutting Back

But as of this day, the program is in great trouble. Caught in a bitter money squeeze themselves, many of the nation's banks are severely cutting back the volume of guaranteed student loans for the coming school year. In some states the program is being abandoned altogether.

Many lenders have announced they will make no new loans to students just entering college or other approved schools but will aid only those already attending school with the help of guaranteed loans. And this year, as well as last, much of the available money will be channeled to favored customers and will by-pass non-customers.

The full extent of the cut-backs won't be known until next month — although you, the student and parents, already may have been rebuffed by all lenders in your area. But from testimony and other information received by the House Special Subcommittee on Education, headed by Oregon Democrat Edith Green, the crisis is here.

Plan Loan Corporation

The solution being pushed, as part of the administration package, and by the original sponsor of the program, Undersecretary of the Treasury Charles Walker, lies in the creation of a new
